

Mansfield Assails GOP Claims Public Misled About Cuba

Charges Kennedy's Patriotism

BY JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield today challenged Republican contentions that President Kennedy has misled the public and has denied congressional leaders intelligence information on Cuba.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview that Rep. Leslie C. Arends, R-Ill., had impugned the President's patriotism by charging Kennedy knew before Oct. 14 the Russians were installing offensive missiles on the island.

Arends' charge—made Monday night at a GOP political rally in St. Petersburg, Fla.—was that the administration is not even "telling the full story of Cuba," at closed door briefings of leaders of both parties.

In other developments related to the Cuban situation:

Informed sources said the Soviet Union appears to be slowly withdrawing some of its troops from Cuba. They said daily reports come in on ship sailings from Cuba and that apparently a few more troops are leaving every day.

Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., suggested a Senate probe of bi-monthly payments which four American women have been receiving since their husbands apparently died on a flying mission during the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion attempt.

Criticizes Keating
In his interview, Mansfield also accused Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., of "setting up a straw man so he can knock it down" by telling the Senate there have been "deliberate attempts" to suppress intelligence information.

"Not true," Mansfield said to Keating's charge that efforts are under way to make intelligence agencies the scapegoat for what has happened in Cuba.

Arends, the deputy House Republican leader and a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said Lt. Gen. Thomas P. Gerrity had testified that the Air Force "went into high gear to support the Cuban plan on the tenth of October." This was four days before Kennedy said he had received the first hand information on offensive missile sites.

"The lords of the Kennedy dynasty have put into effect a system for controlling the news so that we can learn only what they want us to know," Arends said. Mansfield said it was true that prior to the President's action clamping a quarantine on Cuba, Marines were moving toward the Caribbean, the Strategic Air Com-

Bidault on TV In London Irks Paris Officials

French Declare
Underground Chief
Threatens De Gaulle

BY ANTHONY WHITE
LONDON (AP)—A cloak-and-dagger television appearance here by hunted French underground chief Georges Bidault threatened today to open a new rift in the uneasy relations between Britain and France.

French officials expressed hurt surprise that the government-financed British Broadcasting Corp. gave a public forum to a man whose only purpose, they said, is the assassination of President Charles de Gaulle.

Opposition leaders in Parliament demanded a government explanation of how Bidault slipped into Britain through the security net.

De Gaulle Assailed
The liberal newspaper the Guardian said it understood the government had agreed previously to a French request not to grant refuge to Bidault and a number of other persons accused of activities against the French state.

Bidault, a former French premier who heads the outlawed National Council of the Resistance (CNR), said in a taped television interview broadcast Monday night that his organization will topple De Gaulle from power.

"I think our chance is better than Churchill's (against the Nazis), in 1940," he declared.

The CNR is the political arm of the terrorist Secret Army Organization, but Bidault ducked when asked if he endorsed terrorist methods.

"It is impossible to give an answer as to what desperate men may do," he said. "The declaration of human rights states that in case of tyranny the final resort is the duty to revolt."

He denied, however, that the CNR had passed the death sentence on De Gaulle.

"That is what the French government is saying," he said. "It is just one more lie."

Bidault, 62, was a wartime leader of the anti-Nazi underground in France and was one of De Gaulle's closest associates until they broke over Algerian independence.

Bidault is wanted in France on treason charges. Since he fled from there early in 1962 he has turned up in various European capitals and has been interviewed at undisclosed European locations.

The BBC said it contacted Bidault through an unnamed intermediary and arranged a meeting somewhere in West London. Bidault was taken to a studio for the interview. After it was over, he was dropped off in a London street and disappeared.

Railroads, Unions Will Confer on Work Rules

65,000 Jobs At Stake in Discussions

CHICAGO (AP)—Five railroad unions, representing 210,000 on-train employees and seeking to save the possible elimination of 65,000 jobs, will meet with the nation's carriers next week in a climactic session of their long dispute over changes in work rules.

The new bargaining talks were set for March 13 after the U.S. Supreme Court Monday upheld the right of the railroads to make sweeping changes in work rules to eliminate jobs regarded by the carriers as unnecessary. The lines claim what they term antiquated work rules cost them $600 million a year.

Roads to Act Promptly
A railroad spokesman and chief negotiator said the carriers will "move promptly as possible" to make the work rules changes. He added he was confident there would be no national rail strike.

But spokesmen for two brotherhoods warned of a possible strike if the railroads put the changes into effect before an agreement can be reached.

The new talks in Chicago will deal with the proposed elimination of about 40,000 firemen from diesel locomotives in freight and yard service. The Association of American Railroads said if this issue is settled, other points relating to a drastic revision in pay structure and make-up crews will be discussed.

The five unions—trainmen, firemen, engineers, conductors and switchmen who run trains on 195 railroads—contend the work rules would eliminate some 65,000 workers, including 40,000 firemen. They maintain that the present work rules and the jobs they provide are necessary for safe and efficient operation of trains.

Strike Would Be Delayed
Chairman Leverett Edwards of the National Mediation Board said that if no agreement is reached at the new bargaining sessions and a strike is called, a new presidential emergency board will be named to study the dispute. That would automatically delay both a strike and the carrying out of the rules changes for at least 60 days.

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief negotiator for the carriers, said that "certainly the union leaders know that this country can and will not stand for a nationwide railroad strike."

French Miners Defy De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—The bulk of France's 200,000 coal miners flouted President Charles de Gaulle's orders to return to work today and continued their strike for higher wages.

Reports from the government-owned mines and union officials said that between 90 and 95 per cent of the miners in the vast northern France fields and in the Lorraine district of eastern France still refused to work. The miners have been on strike since Friday.

6 Doomed for Attempt to Kill De Gaulle

BY JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—A special military court has sentenced six men to die for trying to shoot President Charles de Gaulle last August. Eight others were given prison terms.

Of those convicted Monday, three sentenced to death have not been caught and were tried in absentia. So were two of those who got long jail sentences. Fugitives sentenced in absentia are retried when caught.

Another accused, Yula Sari, was captured after the hearings started and will be tried later.

Planned Ambush

The men were convicted of having set up an ambush Aug. 22, 1962, in which De Gaulle, his wife and son-in-law narrowly escaped death from machine-gun fire. One bullet just missed the president's head as his car sped through a Paris suburb.

De Gaulle's automobile and one in his escort were riddled by bullets.

During the trial the defense claimed that the plotters only wanted to take De Gaulle prisoner so the anti-Gaullist Secret Army Organization could put him on trial for giving Algeria its independence.

William H. Pifer to Retire As Prange Vice President

Jerome Glaeser New General Manager of Appleton Store

William H. Pifer, executive vice president of the H. C. Prange company's Appleton store since 1958, and general manager of the store since 1946, will retire April 1, it was announced to company employees today.

Pifer, 1968 Palisades Drive, will be succeeded as general manager of the store by Jerome W. Glaeser, 41, present general merchandising manager.

B. Robert Masse, 34, store operations manager, has been appointed assistant manager.

Active in Fox Cities community and service organizations, Pifer joined the Prange company in March, 1945, as general merchandising manager and assistant store manager at the Green Bay store.

The following year he came to Appleton as manager of the Pettibone-Peabody store, which had just been acquired by Prange. He was elected executive vice president of the Appleton Prange store in the spring of 1958.

On Board
Pifer is also a member of the firm's board of directors.

Prior to joining the Prange organization, he was associated with the Younkers Department store, Des Moines, Ia., for 29 years, rising from stock boy to merchandising manager.

Following his retirement, Pifer will continue his association with the Prange organization as a consultant.

Jerome Glaeser, the newly-appointed manager, is starting his 23rd year with the Prange company. He has worked in all of the Prange stores, and has been in Appleton for three years. A native of Sheboygan, he is vice president of the Noon Optimist Club, and has served two tours of duty with the U.S. Marine Corps.

He is married and has a 16-year-old daughter.

B. Robert Masse, the new assistant manager, is a graduate of the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, Boston. A U. S. Navy veteran, he joined the Prange company three years ago. He is a native of Connecticut and formerly was employed by the Prudential Insurance Co. of America.

A member of the board of directors.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—"It took about 15 minutes and then it was all over."

Pale, but dry eyed, Vurnell Jacobson told of watching Communist guerrillas shoot her husband,

Mrs. Jacobson Jacobson another missionary and her 4-month-old baby girl at a roadblock Monday.

"They stopped our land rover about 66 miles northeast of Saigon, she related.

"They looked like any other peasants along the road in black trousers, you know, like they all wear. But of course, we knew they were Communists."

"There are always roadblocks by the Viet Cong. But they just asked for our identity papers."

"We didn't think they were going to harm us."

No Progress in New York Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner called negotiators for New York newspaper publishers and striking printers into another mediation session today.

Wagner, who has been seeking to settle the dispute since Jan. 26, said early today that no progress was made in talks Monday and Tuesday night.

Walter N. Thayer, president of the Herald Tribune, said at a news conference that "a genuine effort on the part of the union to negotiate a settlement" has been noted.

Thayer said, however, "I'm not yet encouraged that this means we're going to reach a settlement."

As the dispute went into its 50th day, four of the city's major newspapers were closed by the printers' strike, four were closed voluntarily. The New York Post is publishing.

Survivors Tell Of Bus Tragedy

Occurs After Driver
Has Heart Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—A hospital bus plunged into the East River when its driver was stricken, and seven of the 11 aboard are dead or missing.

"The bus was completely submerged. I can't swim. I knew I was going to die," said one of four survivors of Monday's accident on Welfare Island.

Elizabeth Newton, 41, said she literally hung on to the coattails of another passenger, Richard Haas, 36, who broke through a door and dragged her up to the surface.

Driver Stricken
The bus careened off a road on Welfare Island when the driver, John Alberts, 51, apparently suffered a heart attack.

Six persons, including Alberts, are known dead. One woman is missing.

4 Youths Killed When Auto Hits Bridge Abutment

DURAND (AP)—Four young men from the Durand area were killed early today when their auto crashed into a bridge abutment on a county road and burst into flames.

A fifth young man was thrown from the car and was injured critically.

The victims were Leigh Johnson, 21; Roger Taylor, 23, and Roger Brantner, 23, all of Durand, and Mike Gauvin, 20, of Eau Claire.

Arnold Snyder, 19, of Durand, was hospitalized in Eau Claire in critical condition.

Apparently there were no witnesses to the accident, which occurred in a remote area of Pepin County about 9 miles southwest of Durand.

Dennis Lehar of Pepin, his wife and two children, came across the flaming wreckage and telephoned the sheriff's office.

Many Cubans Armed Wherever They Travel

BY KNOWLTON NASH

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of the most striking impressions you get in Cuba are that there are so many guns and so many Russians.

Almost half of the people carry machine guns, rifles or pistols. To a Canadian, it seems a little carrying a rifle almost bigger than she was.

I went to a Russian motion picture one evening and noticed that many boys and girls out on dates at the movies lugged along their guns—a somewhat incongruous sight as they held hands with one

Women Assemble for World Prayer Day

A tradition of more than 75 years was observed Friday when the women of the Fox Cities participated in World Day of Prayer services, held at 2 p.m. at the First Congregational Church. Held on the first Friday in Lent, the same service is conducted in approximately 150 countries, crossing denominational, racial, national and cultural boundaries.

Speaker at this year's event in Appleton was the Rev. Frank Dauner, of the Evangelical United Brethren Church. "More than Conquerors" was the theme of the service, prepared for all nations by the Christian Women of Korea. Donations will be used for the training of women in the Congo.

Mrs. Dexter Wolfe was chairman of the program. Mrs. LaVahn Maesch directed the choir, composed of two women from each of 14 cooperating churches. Organist was Mrs. John Koopman.

The Message of faith and unity with women throughout the world brought Fox Cities women together Friday afternoon for World Day of Prayer services. Plan Work Order for Built-ins

Adding a built-in range to a kitchen isn't difficult if you have enough space to place it properly. You need to keep your working arrangement in a logical order no matter what shape kitchen you have.

To use built-ins at least 20 feet of work space is needed — that's the total length measured along the front of appliances and cabinets. But having enough space isn't the only need.

Surface cooking units should be placed in a work triangle, not off on another wall. A 15 to 25 foot work triangle is about the right space.

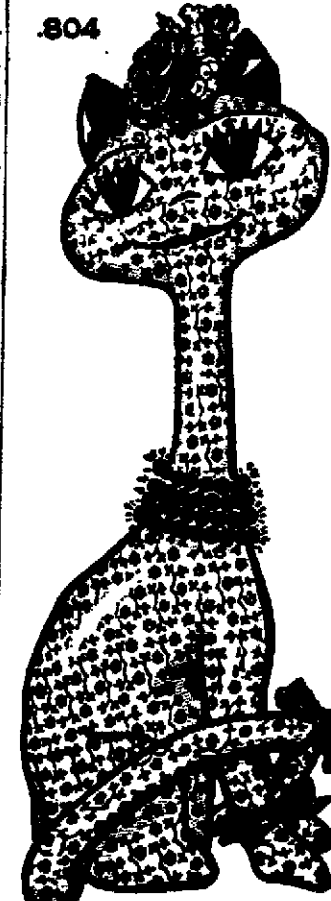

Planes Vary
Whether the work triangle is really a one-wall kitchen with that much space on one wall or it is a "u" shaped kitchen giving a triangle of equal sides, the space needed is about the same.

Try to put a built-in oven so that it won't interrupt that 20 feet of work space. Plan for some counter space on one side of the oven so it is easy to place and remove foods.

If the oven and surface units can be placed on an outside wall it is less expensive to vent them to the outdoors. But they can be vented to an inside wall.

Try to plan cabinet space around a built-in oven for easy reaching. Above the oven a cabinet as deep as the oven makes at least the front of the cabinet easy to reach. A revolving shelf or vertical files makes good use of the space.

Your Problems

Discretion Greater Than Valor In Choice of Revealing Secrets

DEAR ANN: I came from a family of nine children. My father was a drunk and Mom had a terrible time feeding us kids. When I was 15 I quit high school and left home.

I met lots of older men, and not of the highest type. I'm sorry to say I did some things. Landers I'm very much ashamed of. When I was working as a waitress I fell for a trucker who was separated from his wife. I lived with him for two years.

Then I met Dave. He was the first decent man I ever went with. Dave asked me to marry him even though he knew all about my rotten past. We've been married 12 years, have four children and I'm the happiest and most grateful woman alive. I came within an inch of being a rum-bucket and a tramp.

Last night Dave brought an out-of-town customer home to dinner. I almost died when I saw the guest. He's the man I lived with. I know he recognized me at once but he gave no hint.

Shall I tell Dave, or should I contact my old flame and beg him to keep his mouth shut? — Lucky Lee

Dear Lucky: Keep your mouth shut. Unless the man is a miserable heel he'll do the same.

DEAR ANN: I'd like to answer "Daddykins" — the father who wanted to know what to do about a teen-age daughter who wore his sweaters, jackets, shirts, socks — everything she could get her hands on.

You told him he wasn't doomed for life — just until his daughter got married. Well, I can tell him that marriage may end the problem for him, but it's just the beginning for his son-in-law.

My impeccably dressed son married a girl who is larger than he is. She was a tomboy who loved to wear her father's clothes. Her father was a large man and his clothes fit her fine. From the day she married my son she has been wearing his clothes and has wrecked almost every article in his wardrobe.

His sweaters are stretched out of shape, the sleeves in his jackets are popping at the seams. She stuffs herself into his jeans and slacks — even though they fit her like sausage casings.

So please tell the fathers who have this problem to knock the habit in the head early — and save some poor unsuspecting husband a lot of grief. — One who knows.

Dear One: Thank you for a most revealing letter. I didn't realize this habit was transferable. (Are you listening papa?)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I had dinner at the home of friends last evening, when the hostess cleared the table she gathered all the meat scraps on her own plate and placed it on the floor. I thought I was hearing things when she shouted, "Here, Prince, come and get it!"

Much to my astonishment, the mutt came prancing into the dining room, and ate the left-overs right off the Wedgewood.

The hostess noticed the expression of astonishment on my face and told me in no uncertain terms that a dog's mouth is cleaner than a human's. She further stated that hot water and soap kill every kind of germ and that after the dish comes out of the dish washer it is safe for even a tiny baby.

On the way home my husband said he didn't think he would care to eat there again. I feel the same way. What is your opinion? — Yonkers

Live Within Your Income

Buying House Involves More Than Down Payment

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management
 Dear Miss Feeley:
 We're considering buying a home, but friends warn us we may find ourselves as strapped as they are. Before we fall in love with something we can't afford, can you tell us how much we should pay for a house on $8,000 a year? I am working at this point, and my salary will go toward the purchase.
 Mrs. John L. Albany, N.Y.
 Dear Mrs. L:
 It's generally recommended that no more than two and one-half times your gross annual income should go into the purchase of a home. On $8,000 a year, you could start shopping in the $20,000 range, with a mortgage of approximately $13,000.
 Remember that in addition to the down payment — which would probably be one-third of the cost of the house — you'll have other expenses to consider. Figure four to five per cent of the cost of the house per year will go for taxes, insurance and upkeep.
 These figures are only a guide, but they will help you estimate how much and how long you'll need to save before it makes sense to buy. Obviously, a lot depends on whether you already are overburdened with monthly payments on previous purchases and whether you have other financial commitments.

Dear Miss Feeley:
 My husband wants to but any extra money we have into buying shrubs and plants. I want to use it to make improvements inside the house. He says he's improving the property, but the fact is he just loves to garden. Don't you think the condition of the house is more important than the beauty of the grounds, for future sale purposes?
 Mrs. Alma E., St. Paul, Minn.
 Dear Mrs. E.:
 If you have a compulsive gardener on your hands, you're fighting a losing battle. But if it's any consolation to you, you have the real estate man and the banker on your side. A home in good repair, with an attractive new kitchen and bathroom, is certainly more likely to get a mortgage. Unless the property could be used for track homes or other business ventures, a prospective buyer looks inside the house more critically than outside.
 About all you can do is fight a delaying action — bury the garden tools.

Dear Mary Feeley:
 What do you suggest in the way

The Ailing House

Pre-Tiling Procedure

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
 Q: We painted our concrete basement floor with a rubber base paint which has given good service but now we want to put down asphalt tile on the floor. Must we remove the paint first?
 A: If the present paint is adhering tightly all over, test it with a 10 per cent solution of lye. If the paint remains unaffected, the tile can be put down directly over it. It is not necessary to remove the paint. Paints other than rubber base, or paint not adhering tightly to the concrete, must be removed first. Be sure the surface of the concrete is absolutely clean and free of any trace of snot, wax, grease, etc., before putting down the tile.
 Q: When we purchased our ranch home from the builder, we noticed a salty deposit on the living room fireplace wall. The painter removed part of the plaster wall, putting in new plaster, but still the salty deposit is to be found on the fireplace wall. What is this and how can we get rid of the deposit?
 A: This is probably a type of efflorescence. The plaster, I suspect, was applied directly to the fireplace brick and moisture is working through, bringing with it free lime (the deposit you now see). Neutralizing the free lime may be all that's necessary to overcome this. Remove all paint with paint remover. Then on the bare plaster surface, brush a solution of one pound of zinc sulphate dissolved in one gallon of water. Allow to dry at least three days. Then repeat. If this doesn't work, check for a leak or crack in the masonry or chimney brick. Or try building a false wall, on one-inch furring strips, using plasterboard paneling, to create an insulating space between the chimney brick and wall. This can be painted or papered, as desired.

Deaf Children Education Fund Is Organized

Oral Methods of Study Purpose For New Group

An educational fund to interest and aid persons in the field of education of the deaf was organized in Appleton Sunday.
 The new organization was set up at a meeting at the Appleton YMCA of 12 persons from the Fox Cities area who are interested in promoting oral education of deaf children. The tentative name selected for the group is Educational Fund Inc., Recruiters of Teachers for the Deaf.
 The educational fund will be established for the purpose of acquainting qualified persons with the need and opportunities in the field of education of the deaf, and providing scholarships in this field.
 Officers elected Sunday are Mrs. Garwood Ferris, Menasha, president; Leonard Becker, Oshkosh, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Theisen and Mrs. Henry Paull, both of Appleton, co-secretaries. Mrs. Ferris, who had been acting chairman of the group, and Becker are on the faculty of the Oshkosh School for the Deaf, and Mrs. Theisen and Mrs. Paull are parents of children attending the school.
 Plans on ways of raising funds will be discussed at later meetings of the group. The group will contact high school guidance counselors and high school students to interest them in the program.
 The organizational meeting of the new group was held on the birthday of Alexander Graham Bell, a pioneer in oral education for the deaf.

Officers of a New Group to provide scholarships for persons in the field of education of the deaf were elected at the organizational meeting in Appleton Sunday. From left are Mrs. Donald Theisen, Appleton, secretary; Leonard Becker, Oshkosh, treasurer; Mrs. Garwood Ferris, Menasha, president, and Mrs. Henry Paull, Appleton, assistant secretary. The tentative name selected for the organization is Educational Fund Inc., Recruiters of Teachers for the Deaf. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Noted Author Will Speak at Appleton High

Munro Leaf to Review 4-Month Global Tour, Seminars Abroad

Munro Leaf, creator of the children's classic, "Ferdinand the Bull," and the "Watchbirds" series that ran for 23 years in the Ladies' Home Journal, will speak in the Appleton High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday.
 His speech will be entitled "I Was a Cultural Exchange." The program is sponsored by the Appleton Parent Teacher Association and the Appleton Education Association.
 The program is open to the public without charge. Tickets are available from the public school teachers.
 Leaf, well-known as an author of children's books, recently embarked on a four-month global tour under the sponsorship of the U.S. State Department's Cultural Exchange program. He traveled in Asia, the Middle East and Europe, conducting seminars at teachers' institutes, conferring with publishers of children's books, talking with educators, students, librarians, embassy officials and government leaders. His distinctive approach to the child on his own level was new to educators abroad, particularly in Asia.

 Leaf was born in Maryland in 1906. He earned a B.A. degree at the University of Maryland and an M.A. degree at Harvard. He taught for three years and then began working in the book publishing field.
 In 1934 he wrote the first of his now famous series of "Fun"

Nine Pedestrian Fatalities in Area in 1962

MADISON — Nine of the 146 pedestrian fatalities in Wisconsin accidents last year took place in the four Fox Cities area counties, according to figures released today by the state motor vehicle department.
 Three pedestrians were fatally injured in Outagamie County, three in Winnebago County, two in Waupaca County and one in Calumet County.
 Pedestrians made up 15 per cent of last year's fatal traffic accident victims in Wisconsin. Of 953 persons killed on streets and highways in the state during 1962, 146 were on foot. Four of the walkers were struck down by hit and run drivers.
 Seventy-six pedestrians met their fate on city and village streets, while 70 were fatally injured on rural highways. Last year's pedestrian fatality total was the worst since 1953 when 175 walkers were killed in the state.
 books, "Grammar Can Be Fun," and found that he was an artist as well as an author. When his editors saw the amusing little sketches he had done to guide an artist for his book, they urged him to do his own illustrations, which he has done ever since.
 In 1936 he wrote "The Story of Ferdinand," which was put into the movies by Walt Disney and has been translated into more than 20 languages, and "Manners Can Be Fun," which eventually went into 37 printings in its first edition. A revised and enlarged edition was published in 1958. Other "Fun" books dealt with safety, health, arithmetic, history, geography, reading and science.
 Leaf served in the Army during World War II, and wrote several manuals. He has also written pamphlets translated by the U.S. State Department for use in the Point Four program.

Facts Behind Common Market Need Telling

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Sooner or later, the American people will probably get the whole story of how the "Common Market" affects them concretely and what the plan really means for the future of Europe.

But, up to now, various misinterpretations have been spread which have prevented many persons on this side of the Atlantic from getting a full understanding of the problem.

On Sunday night, for example, a television presentation to a nationwide audience gave millions of American listeners a mistaken impression of the significance of the "Common Market." The portrayal of the industrial progress being made currently was realistic and timely, but the principal thought conveyed was that the "Common Market" is deliberately designed to bring about a United States of Europe and that this development is just around the corner.

The idea stressed was that the people of six European countries—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—are ready now to give up their patriotic feelings about their homeland and merge themselves in some kind of single super-government, and that the people of Great Britain eventually will join also. While the "Common Market" has unquestionably increased already the prosperity of each member country, it is far from realistic to say that the several nations on the continent of Europe, speaking different languages and enjoying different cultural interests, are all of a sudden to become one nation.

The example cited in the television presentation was that of the development of the United States of America from the 13 colonies. But the difference is that in 1776 the people of all the colonies spoke the same language and, for the most part, had the same ethnic background.

It will be conceded by almost everyone who studies the subject that the "Common Market" concept, from the business standpoint, a good one for its members. But, while some of its champions have argued for political union, there is nothing so likely to impede the economic advancement of Europe as an attempt to minimize, if not destroy, national pride and patriotism. Local politicians can readily make an inflammatory issue out of such an emotional subject.

Even with two nations as closely allied as Canada and the United States, a momentous proposal in 1911 to sign a reciprocal tariff agreement between the two countries was killed in the Canadian parliament because some one in high office here thoughtlessly mentioned a design for "annexation" of Canada by the United States.

What was surprising about the television commentary on Sunday night was its failure to point up what the impact of the "Common Market" is going to be on the Communist bloc in Europe. Nor was there any comment as to the chances of ever bringing about the independence of all the satellite countries if their peoples are to be offered, in effect, a choice between being ruled by a central government in Moscow or by a super-government or council in either London or Paris. Nothing could be more discouraging to the cause of self-determination.

Sound Approach
The "Common Market" is, of course, a basically sound approach for the settlement of tariff and other economic questions.

Criticism Outnumbers Plaudits On 62-Part Wisconsin Series

BY CHARLES HOUSE

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

This department has come to the end of a long, 62-part series of articles which required at least that many visits to cities and villages in Wisconsin, and which, if printed in book form, would fill two book-length novels.

The 62-week series, done in concert with Artist Bill Juhre, attempted (and sometimes failed) to catch both the story and the spirit of each city visited. But in the search for them, we learned much and had some experiences we share with you today.

House in Belgium, after which Wisconsin's Brussels was named. We thought local folks might find it interesting.

Both of us researched manfully, but the coat of arms simply could not be found. I can no longer remember how many hours I spent in the search, but they were many. But it was to no avail.

Success at Last

Suddenly, however, I recalled that I had bought a Bavarian hat during a trip to Europe, and that I had affixed to it the coat of arms of each city I visited—a Bavarian costume. I took the hat off my head, and behold—there was the Bruxelles coat of arms. And that is how we found it and gave it to Wisconsin's Brussels.

Both the artist and I hoped that we captured some elements which might have been lost had we not talked many times to old folks who remembered well.

In Hilbert, of Calumet County, for example, we spent several hours with an old timer whose recollections went back almost to the birth of the community and we learned many things from him. But, alas, the old fellow died before the story was in print. He was not to see his important contributions.

Juhre and I worked manfully to be accurate, and our diligence often required more time than seemed prudent. We eschewed hearsay and conjecture and sought facts because we knew that a jerry-built story would be hurtful both to our readers and to the integrity of this newspaper to say nothing of our own.

One example of a search for an elusive fact occurred after a visit to Green Valley, Oconto County. We had been told that a portion of a motion picture ("Thunder") had been made in the community, and we sought to pin down the date exactly. All sources informed us that it had been made in 1923. Lon Chaney and Phyllis Haver were the stars.

A check was disappointing. Biographies of these people were unrewarding. So were various books and histories on the motion picture industries. So were long memories of people we knew and trust. The search required at least four hours to determine that the movie was made in 1929—not 1923.

Evaluating Series

We have to be grateful to our editors for permitting such expenditures of time on an obscure movie for a seemingly unimportant fact—but it was reasonably important to the community itself.

It is difficult for me to assess the value of the series. I am sure that Juhre's sketches will have a lasting value and I am sure that I researched and wrote to the best of my ability which I agree was sometimes not good enough.

One method of evaluation is, of course, the request for the articles and for back issues. Dozens of libraries in Wisconsin have added the series to their files, and thousands of people have tucked the series away. Many persons are still attempting to collect the series into a whole although it is probably not possible at this date.

Another method of estimating the value of the series is mail. But strangely (at least I think it strange), the number of complimentary letters are heavily outweighed by those of criticism, by a ratio of about six to one.

The majority of the critical letters were something like this: "My uncle had a grocery store in ... for 23 years and you never mentioned him!"

The truth of the matter was that I could not write of every person who had ever lived in the communities for even whole lifetimes, and I made no effort to do so. Space would not permit. Only two communities of the 62 ever bothered to write me a plain letter of thanks, something like "you fellows did a good job. Thank you." These letters—several from Manawa and one from Weyauwega—were gratefully received, but even from Manawa (where a note signed by the entire Lions Club there praised us) there came a note of rebuke. Said one man: "Bill Juhre sketched a hill on our main street, and there isn't one there!" (Yes there is!)

An irate criticism came shortly after the appearance of our story on Mishicot, Door County, when a citizen protested that I had quoted "only newcomers." When I checked back to see if I had so erred, I found that I had quoted four persons: a farmer occupying the land his family had owned for four generations; an attorney, son of a pioneer of the area; a third-generation community historian; and a "newcomer"—a 77-year-old man who had maintained his blacksmith shop on the village's main street for 45 years.

Though my hide is not as tough as I wish it were, it has not seemed to me that such letters of criticism should disturb me and they do not. But painful to me has been the fact that sometimes in

Jury Hears Testimony in Battery Case

Sister Claims She Was Beaten by Willard Van Handel

A 12-man jury, six men and six women, began hearing testimony today into the battery charge against a Little Chute man, Willard "Preacher" Van Handel, 55, 903 Depot St., by his sister Mrs. Ruth Hartjes, 837 W. Grove St., Menasha.

Mrs. Hartjes contends her brother beat her, choked her, hit her head against a wall and threw her from his home into the driveway Oct. 30. Mrs. Hartjes was hospitalized four days after the incident, the jury was told by a doctor.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said he planned to call about six more witnesses before County Judge Gustave Keller in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

Attorneys for the defense have about five witnesses, they said. Mrs. Hartjes took the stand about 10 a.m. today and told the jury she had met her brother in a Little Chute tavern Oct. 30 and told him she wanted to talk to him. Van Handel told his sister to meet him at his home 20 minutes later "after my wife is gone," Mrs. Hartjes said.

Went to Home
Mrs. Hartjes went to her brother's home, she said "to ask him to explain why he hated me." She said she also wanted to talk to him about a decision he had made in his official capacity as state building inspector. What that decision was, was not brought out in testimony.

Mrs. Hartjes entered her brother's home through the garage and the kitchen door, she said and met her brother in the living room. She asked him "Why are you doing this to me?"

Mrs. Hartjes' testimony showed the two exchanged words before Van Handel grabbed her about the throat and began hitting Mrs. Hartjes' head against a wall. She said her brother forced her into the kitchen, out into the garage and then threw her into the driveway. She said he then returned to the house and picked up her purse from the kitchen table and came out into the driveway where he beat her about the head.

Mrs. Hartjes said she attempted to get help from several passers-by, but her brother stood in the driveway and told them to leave her alone. She went to a home of a friend about one block away and received treatment for her face cuts.

A doctor testified he examined Mrs. Hartjes about noon Oct. 31 and found she had multiple bruises about the head. He said he requested Mrs. Hartjes to go to the hospital where she was confined.

Herbert Vanderbloemen, state conservationist from Manitowoc, recently won an American Motors conservation award, a plaque and $500, for his work in acquiring the Collins Marsh land as an addition to state wetlands and for raising money to help build a lodge in the Rahr Memorial School Forest.

Kimberly Man Disputes Land Ownership

KIMBERLY — An irate citizen appeared before the village board Monday night in an effort to get assistance in a dispute over land ownership.

H. M. Williams contends he owns land on which Holy Name Catholic Church is built.

Village President Alvin Fulcer told Williams the disagreement was between him and the church and the village is not involved. Board members did not enter into the discussion.

Williams told the board he has written to the President and U.S. attorney general for help in settling the dispute, which he said dates back 40 years.

He contends a 18-foot strip of land in the church area is his property. Attorneys have checked records at the courthouse and have been unable to find evidence he is the owner.

Fulcer explained to Williams that the village owns no property in the church area and that if it ever did the land was given to the church with a quit-claim deed. Property adjacent to the church on which a street was constructed was given to the village via a warranty deed, he said.

Asks Jury Trial

OSHKOSH — Shirley W. Rogge, 137 Douglas St., Neenah, denied an assault and battery charge brought by his wife and asked for a 12-man jury trial. County Judge James Sitter this morning set the trial for April 25. Rogge was jailed in default of bond. He was arrested Feb. 22.

Legion Chief Praises Xavier Sportsmanship

Appleton Post
Passes Resolution
Lauding Cagers

Donald "Mick" Skelly of Milton, commander of the Wisconsin American Legion, praised the sportsmanship of the state champion Xavier High School basketball team in his speech to past commanders and members of the Appleton American Legion post Monday.

He praised the Xavier team not only for winning the state Catholic basketball crown but also for its display of fine sportsmanship throughout the entire tournament. "It was wonderful to see such a fine group of boys displaying great sportsmanship in the heat of competition," he said.

Americanism Month
The Legion commander discussed the many Legion programs of Americanism, noting that March is Americanism Month. He pointed out that 847 boys participated in Badger Boys State, more than 300 units in the Boy Scouts were sponsored by the Legion, and more than 1,900 boys participated in American Legion baseball throughout the state. The oratorical program also is growing steadily, he said.

The Appleton American Legion Post passed a resolution citing the Xavier basketball team not only for winning the state championship but also for its display of sportsmanship throughout tournament play. Formal presentation to the school will be made at a later date.

Passed Resolution
The Appleton post also passed a resolution to be presented to the Board of Education supporting "Herbert H. Helble" as the name for the new high school. Since a possible name for the new school is being discussed throughout the city, Legion members said, no man has given more towards the teaching of youth in the city than Helble, principal of Appleton High School.

The post formed a committee of three men to make the proposal officially to the school board. On the committee are George Dame, Clarence Baetz and Dan Hardt.

493 Voters Go to Appleton Polls Before Noon Hour

Today's judicial primary election brought out 493 voters in Appleton as of noon.

The polls will be open until 8 p.m. There are 19,274 registered voters in the city of Appleton. Estimates are that the five-way race for state supreme court justice will produce between 3,000 and 3,500 votes locally.

In March of 1959 when a judicial primary was held, 2,652 votes were cast in Appleton. The noon-time total that day was 441.

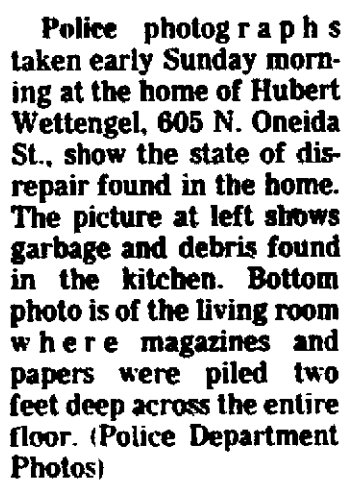

Oshkosh Man Pleads Guilty of Stealing

OSHKOSH — A pre-sentence investigation was ordered in a theft charge against Lee Kaski, 45, 801 Jackson St., Oshkosh.

He was charged with failing to turn over $80.50 collected in insurance premiums to his employers. Kaski pleaded guilty before Winnebago County Judge James Sitter who set sentencing March 19. Kaski was released on $500 bond and is to make restitution.

Owner of Home Found in Chicago Hubert Wettengel Will be Told Of Responsibility to Clean House

City Sanitarian William Moldenhauer said today he will draft a letter to Hubert Wettengel, owner of an Appleton home at 605 N. Oneida St., and send it by registered mail to a Chicago hotel where he learned Wettengel has been staying.

Wettengel's home was called a public nuisance by police, firemen and other city officials who investigated the home over the weekend. Moldenhauer said his letter will outline conditions found in the two-story frame home and will advise Wettengel of his responsibility to clean up the home.

Receive Tip
Appleton police received a tip Monday that Wettengel could be found at a Randolph Street hotel in Chicago and that he may have gone there after returning from the Seattle World's Fair sometime in 1962. Police attempted to contact Wettengel Monday night, but the hotel clerk said the room was empty.

Police went to the home early Sunday morning when a patrolman called the police station and said he thought the home had been broken into. The back door was open and footprints were found in the snow. Police are not sure yet if the home had been entered.

Investigators found the plumbing was in disrepair, large amounts of newspapers and magazines were scattered about, the water and electricity turned off, the furniture damaged and torn, windows and picture glass broken and scattered about, and decayed food in the kitchen. Police said there was also evidence that mice and vermin were in the house.

Police learned Monday that Wettengel left Appleton in September and went to Minneapolis and then to the fair. He returned to the Midwest but did not come to Appleton and has apparently been in Chicago since that time.

Police said Wettengel was in contact with a Neenah man Monday, but said he did not feel well and was not planning to return to Appleton for sometime.

Fine Old Home
The home, described by Appleton old-timers as "one of the old fine homes in the central part of the city" was part of a $100,000 estate left to Hubert Wettengel by his father, Alfred. Alfred Wettengel died in 1939, and his son was the sole heir to the estate.

Police said Hubert did not work but received income from stock which was included in his inheritance. He often left Appleton for several weeks at a time, police said.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell Monday called city officials, police and firemen and sanitarians to his office to discuss the situation. Mitchell then said that an attempt should be made to find Wettengel and explain the conditions of the home to him. If Wettengel makes no attempt to clean up the home, the city will have to undertake the project, he said.

Pickets Propose to End 'Indecency' of Animals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House was picketed Tuesday by picketers for an end to "the indecency of naked animals."

The picketers asked that President Kennedy and his family lead the way by clothing their own dogs and horses.

They handed passers-by leaflets urging "clothe all animals protect our children from the sight of naked horses, cows, dogs and cats."

"We are now 50,000 strong," proclaimed a placard carried by Bruce Spencer of New York City, paid worker for the Society for Indecency to Naked Animals, but only he and two other picketers were out in drizzling weather.

Works Director Starts New Job

R. W. Bues Assumed
Duties of Appleton
Post on Monday

Robert W. Bues, formerly of Rhinelander, took over his new duties as Appleton public works director Monday.

Bues, who succeeded Edwin E. Duszynski, was appointed to the post a month ago and moved his family here over the weekend.

Bues met with staff members and said he would hold future conferences with other personnel.

Bues said he was aware of the recent allegations made about city garage operations and some employees, and had read about the inquiry.

Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd) and R. P. Groh (8th), who conducted the inquiry, said last week they would discuss some of the garage problems with Bues and offer their recommendations to rectify them.

Bues participated in a meeting of the street-sanitation committee during the afternoon and suggested the city proceed to seek applicants for the positions of superintendent and chemist at the new sewage treatment plant, which is scheduled to be put into operation this summer. Two operators also will have to be hired.

Reading Plan

A developmental reading program is being planned for pupils in seventh grade on a more comprehensive scale than before. Regular science classes will be offered to eighth graders. Both of these subjects will be offered only at Madison next year as electives.

Home arts (industrial arts and home economics) will continue as a full-year elective in ninth grade and be required for one semester each in seventh and eighth grades. Physical education, health and safety will be required daily at Wilson and Roosevelt, taught by physical education instructors. At Madison, physical education will be required two or three days a week, and health and safety will be integrated into the science program.

The schools will continue to have grouping, with classes for extremely dull normal pupils at the bottom and for the unusually bright pupils at the top of any grade group. The committee reported on the new program emphasis.

Enforce Policy

Wolff said his department was prepared to enforce whatever policy the common council adopted. He reminded the first arm of enforcement would be for the council to refuse to license any establishment that does not comply.

Committee members said if the city ordinance is antiquated it should be removed from the books, and a change be made to meet present day conditions. The matter was referred to the welfare-ordinance committee.

Wolff emphasized his department was not going to launch any kind of a crackdown on violators at this time.

"We will have to get the support of the common council, however, come licensing time when the department makes its recommendations," Wolff said.

The common council grants and renews licenses annually.

Appleton Junior Highs May Begin Seven-Period Day

New Plan Eliminates Home Room;
14 Minutes Would be Added Daily

A seven-period school day which will eliminate the home-room period and offer more subjects, both required and elective, has been proposed for Appleton junior-high schools.

The Board of Education received the proposal Monday and will act on it next Monday.

Although the new program would add only 14 minutes to the school day, it would add a seventh 50-minute class period through elimination of the present 35-minute daily home room period.

The seven-period day will make possible greater flexibility in scheduling provide more opportunity for selection of courses and give a better opportunity for taking care of the various phases of the curriculum, Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz told the board.

If approved, the program will be placed in operation next September in the three junior high schools, but the programs at Roosevelt and Wilson will be limited by their present physical facilities. James Madison School, the newest junior high with more adequate physical facilities, will be used on a pilot basis with a more comprehensive program of offerings, to determine how efficiently the seven-period day can work, Kurtz said.

The home room "is not as educationally sound as we used to think it was," Kurtz said. It will be replaced by an "advisory period" when needed, possibly once a week, to be used primarily as an administrative clearing house period.

'Block-Time'
"Block-time" planning is being considered in the seventh and eighth grades in such areas as communicative arts-social studies and mathematics-science. Under this system, classes in two related subjects would be scheduled consecutively, with greater flexibility possible in the use of the double period of time.

A major change will be the requirement of a full year of science in seventh, eighth and ninth grades at Madison. At present, one semester of science is required in seventh and eighth grades and ninth grade general science is an elective. Because of limited facilities, at Roosevelt and Wilson, science will be required for only one semester each in seventh and eighth grades and for a full year in ninth grade.

French classes will be offered daily in seventh, eighth and ninth grades. They now are offered two days one week and three days on alternate weeks. Spanish may be added in seventh and eighth grades at Madison. Spanish and Latin, as well as French, will be ninth grade electives in all three schools.

Another new requirement will be one semester each of art and one area of music in seventh and eighth grades at all three schools. Both subjects will continue as electives in ninth grade. The new program would provide an opportunity for students to elect a foreign language and still remain in the music program.

Major Concerns

Two major concerns indicated by the teaching staff in the possible change to a seven-period day, according to the committee report, are a possible subject overload of students and the teacher class load.

Students who need a study hall period will be able to elect it instead of an additional subject, Kurtz pointed out.

The total pupil load per teacher will be kept at 125 to 150 pupils, regardless of whether the teacher has five or six teaching periods, explained Assistant Superintendent William Spears. Class size will be reduced under the new program.

The seven-period day will require a larger staff, Kurtz said. It is estimated that to start the program next fall, not counting possible enrollment increases, four more teachers will be needed, he said.

The program was developed after a year and one-half of study, Kurtz said. Final plans were worked out by Everett Lee, Roosevelt principal, and his staff.

Wolff Repeats Policy Protest On Vision Law

Chief Says State, Appleton Rules Appear in Conflict

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff has repeated his request for clarification of the city's tavern "vision law" policy.

Appearing before the public safety committee Monday night, Wolff said state statutes and local ordinances appear to be in conflict.

Wolff said detectives, in making routine checks of taverns and supper clubs, noted some outright violations of all the vision laws.

"When the rest obey the law, then I will, too," one tavern operator told law enforcement officers.

Wolff said because of the conflict in the laws, he felt that it would not be fair to all concerned to proceed with strict enforcement.

However, he recommended that the common council eliminate the city ordinance from its books and go along with the state statute. The latter says police officers must be able to view the interior of the establishment from the outside during non-operating hours. This prevents after hours activity, which is a violation of the closing hour law.

Enforce Policy
Wolff said his department was prepared to enforce whatever policy the common council adopted. He reminded the first arm of enforcement would be for the council to refuse to license any establishment that does not comply.

Committee members said if the city ordinance is antiquated it should be removed from the books, and a change be made to meet present day conditions. The matter was referred to the welfare-ordinance committee.

Seymour 'Cash' Promotion
Termed Lottery by State
A "cash night" promotion to encourage shopping in downtown Seymour Friday nights has been ordered discontinued because it is a lottery, Outagamie County Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said Sunday.

Schaefer informed officials at Seymour by letter this weekend the promotion is against the state's anti-lottery laws and should be halted immediately. The district attorney said he was informed of the promotion in a letter from State Atty. General George Thompson. Thompson told Schaefer he had received a complaint of the lottery. Included in the letter from Thompson was a

Examiner Told Elwin Welch Was Policeman

Hearing Is Being Conducted to Decide
Payment Eligibility

Elwin Welch, a former Outagamie County patrolman who died in April, 1962 of injuries he received in a car accident wore a badge, carried a weapon and was eligible to make arrests for felonies and misdemeanors, a state industrial commission examiner was told Monday.

Examiner G. P. Hof is to determine whether a highway patrolman is a policeman and therefore whether his beneficiaries are eligible for compensation payments on his death under a special state statute. After hearing testimony from fellow Outagamie County patrolmen and a Calumet County traffic patrolman, Hof requested that briefs be prepared on the case and submitted to him within 30 days. He reserved ruling in the case until after the briefs are read.

Outagamie County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath claimed that Welch, 57, is not eligible for compensation under State Statute 66-181, the special death or disability for certain public employees law, because the county patrolman job is not one of the specific occupations listed as being eligible for the benefits.

The patrolman's widow has sought compensation under the statute and has declined taking the regular workman's compensation payments. It was estimated by an insurance representative that Mrs. Welch would receive about $14,000 more under the special state statute if she received benefits for 20 years.

No Compensation
Mrs. Welch has not received any compensation since her husband died April 2. She has said she was living on social security payments and a small police association pension of $18 per month. Ponath Monday said he did not intend to keep payments from Mrs. Welch but interpreted his duty as corporation counsel to examine the request of Mrs. Welch to receive payment under the special law and to determine the legality of such a payment.

Under the special statute for certain employees, Mrs. Welch would receive a payment of one-third her husband's monthly salary at the time of his death. The payments would be made each month until she remarries or dies. Welch was making $390 per month when he died. Under compensation, Mrs. Welch would receive a settlement equal to four times the amount of an average annual salary. Those payments would be made on a monthly basis.

The issue is in the wording of the special statute which lists eligible special employees as "policemen, conservation wardens, deputy state fire marshals, state forest rangers, field employees of the conservation commission subject to call for forest fire control or warden duty, members of the state traffic patrol, state university fulltime guards or any employee whose duties are supervisory in state penal institutions, state hospitals or who are state tax beverage employees."

Marx Testifies
Outagamie County Undersheriff Norbert Marx testified he had worked with Welch and said "I always believed Welch to be a police officer" and that he had observed Welch perform duties of a police officer. Marx was employed by the Appleton Police Department when he worked with Welch on cases.

Welch wore a badge with the wording "Outagamie County Police" inscribed on it. Welch's former supervisor Capt. Ronald Decker testified. The badge was issued to Welch and was the official badge of Outagamie County. Decker also said Welch carried a weapon and was a deputy sheriff. Welch's job included patrol car duties, regulating traffic, enforcing tavern regulations, and answering family complaints. Decker testified Welch, and other members of the patrol, have the power of arrest for felonies and misdemeanors.

Indoor Archery Shoot Set This Weekend

No Pot-Bellied Prototypes

Waushara County Barkeepers Start Half-Century Jaunt Into Oshkosh

BY STERLING SORENSON

In a test of physical fitness decided to show they aren't prototypes of pot-bellied saloonkeepers often pictured by caricaturists, a foursome of Waushara County tavernmen early Monday set out on a half-century hike for Oshkosh.

This heel-and-toe Odyssey will take them from Wautoma — which they left just after sun-up Monday — to the Sawdust City, via Omro and Winneconne, and the shoreline of Lake Butte des Morts.

Had Rescue Dog

The hikers of Route 21 are due in Oshkosh late today. This depends on a number of factors and the unwonted exercise which may result in fall-outs. The route is close to 50 miles, standard mileage of those participating in the hiking vogue.

With an overnight stop over at Omro, the intrepid trekkers plan to cover the march in 24 hours, or less, of walking time. Taking their cue from the well-known rescue dogs of the Hospice of St. Bernard in the Swiss Alps, the traveling barkeepers had their own rescue dog with them on a portion of the hike. Harnessed about the canine's neck — in the best tradition of the St. Bernards — was a small cask of brandy. Jerry Honl, who operates Silvercrest resort on Wautoma's Silver Lake, initiated the half-century walk, and enlisted the participation of the others. Last week, Honl made two "practice" hikes better to get in shape. They were separate circuits of Silver Lake, covering nine miles on each round.

Following Highway 21 from Wautoma to Red Granite the well-shod hikers reached the quarry city at 10:35 a.m., well ahead of schedule.

Omro was the overnight stopping place, according to the schedule, with an early start Tuesday to Winneconne and then on to Oshkosh.

With Honl as the trekkers modeling their smart-stepping way Monday were Wallace La More, of Silver Lake's Moose Inn; Larry Boquist of Red Granite's Buck's bar and Charles "Chuck" Williams of the Woodpile, a tavern outside of Wautoma.

Serving as a kind of watchful warder was Jack Barrett of Red Granite. In a car equipped with mattress, bandages and other first aid supplies, he followed the barkeepers.

Tipsy Drivers Found Guilty

Stockbridge Man Leads Police on High-Speed Chases

A motorist who led Chilton and Calumet County police on a wild chase Sunday evening faces a possible 60-day jail term or a shorter term and fines totaling $175.

Raymond H. Mueller, 23, Stockbridge, pleaded guilty of drunken driving and driving too fast for conditions when he appeared Monday before Judge D. H. Seborna in Calumet County Court.

He was fined $150 and given a 10-day jail term with Huber Law privileges on the drunken driving count with an additional 40 days to be added to the sentence in lieu of the fine. For driving too fast for conditions, the fine was $25 or 10 more days in jail.

Herbert W. Schroeder Jr., 32, 2518 Heather Ave., Appleton, was fined $175 and had his license revoked for one year in Outagamie County Court, Branch 3, Monday, after pleading guilty of drunken driving.

Kenneth J. Lyons, 18, 212 S. Outagamie St., Appleton, in Menasha Municipal Court Monday was fined $125 plus $5 in court costs or 30 days in Winnebago County Jail, by municipal police justice Arthur J. Ales on a charge of driving a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Arrested Sunday

Mueller was arrested by Chilton Policeman Dan Albedyll with assistance from Calumet Patrolman Fred Martins. Testimony indicates Albedyll pursued Mueller briefly about 10 p.m. Sunday, with the chase ending when Mueller's car piled into a snow bank on Heimann Street.

A speeding summons was issued and Albedyll had the car towed from the snow bank. The moment the tow chain was unhooked, Mueller drove off at a high rate of speed. Albedyll gave chase and was forced to the shoulder when Mueller's car spun around at an intersection and came speeding back toward the pursuing police car.

Mueller failed to heed Martin's attempts to stop him, and he was finally captured by the two policemen on Washington Street.

$700,000 Sewer Bond Issue Asked

More May be Needed Later

The Appleton council's street-sanitation committee requested Monday the city float a $700,000 bond issue for new sewer construction, after several weeks of deliberations.

The city engineering department has come up with one of the community's most ambitious sewer programs in history based on a recent survey of the community's immediate and future needs.

There also is a possibility the committee will recommend another bond issue of $500,000 for major sewer construction in the central city area this summer or fall.

This would raise the new sewer construction projects to well over $1 million.

Act on Projects

The council will act on the following project requests when it meets Wednesday night:

College Avenue to Spencer Street west of Mason Street, $140,000; Badger Avenue from Memorial Drive to Wisconsin Avenue, $172,000; Atlantic Street, Wisconsin Avenue, Richmond Street, State Street, $150,000; Matthias Street, Peter Street to Lourdes Drive, $90,000; Matthias Street sanitary sewer from Lourdes Drive to Calumet Street and Telulah Avenue, $110,000, other smaller projects, $38,000.

It was agreed to withhold final approval until later in the spring or summer for the $500,000 Walnut Street, College Avenue to the river project, which is expected to alleviate basement flooding in the central city.

Three other projects, adding up to $130,000 worth of new sanitary and storm sewer construction, are also being considered for this year.

The city will recover part of the sewer costs through assessments.

Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd), committee chairman, said the engineering department had several projects ready.

Christian Mothers at Combined Locks Plan Day of Recollection

COMBINED LOCKS — Plans for participation in the Outagamie County day of recollection to be held at Holy Name Parish, Kimberly, Sunday were made at a communion-breakfast meeting of the St. Paul Christian Mothers Society Sunday morning.

Women planning to attend are to make reservations with Mrs. Vernon Lamers by Wednesday. Plans were made to hold a question box in conjunction with the April meeting. Guest speaker was Mrs. Frank Blick, Appleton, who told of the enjoyment to be gained through pen pals. Special guests were members of the St. Marie Goretti Society.

The drunken driving summons resulted from the second chase.

Schroeder was arrested by Outagamie County Police on U.S. 41 Friday night. He was taken to the county jail, where he tested 21 on the drunkometer.

Lyons, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was arrested Saturday by Menasha Police after he was involved in an accident at the Third and Racine street intersection in Menasha.

More Testing For Hebard

Second Psychiatrist Interviews Boy Who Admitted Murders

GREEN BAY — Harry R. Hebard, 16, who has admitted shooting five members of his family to death in their home, 2636 Hazelwood Lane, Feb. 18, underwent a second psychiatric interview Monday afternoon.

Young Hebard was taken from his Brown County jail cell to the office of Dr. Edward E. Houdek in Sheboygan by Chief Deputy Bernard Baye and Deputy Milton Miller.

The young man underwent about 90 minutes of questioning and testing in the psychiatrist's office.

Written Reports
Hebard previously was interviewed last Thursday by Dr. Denton P. Engstrom in Appleton for an hour.

Written reports will be filed by the psychiatrists with Judge James W. Byers to determine whether Hebard is mentally competent to stand trial on first-degree murder counts.

Hebard formally is charged in the deaths of his father, Jack, 37; his stepmother, Joyce, 35; and his twin stepbrothers, Judy and Janice, 11. A fifth murder charge involving the death of his stepbrother, John Rudell, 15, is being held in abeyance pending outcome of the case.

Press Barred From Meeting Of Police, Fire Commission

Reporters Leave After Threat of Being Ousted

NEENAH — The press was barred from Monday night's special meeting of the Neenah Police and Fire Commission at the Neenah police station. Commissioners said they were to discuss individual applicants for the position of police chief, which will be vacant when Irving Slup retires April 1. Representatives of the Twin City News-Record and the Oshkosh Daily Northwestern were asked to leave the meeting on the motion of Commissioner Jerome Bomier. The motion came as Pres. Earl W. Haase called for the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting. Commissioner Bomier, in his motion, said, "As the entire meeting and the minutes of the previous meeting are concerning applicants (for the police chief position), I move the press be excluded."

No Second
No second was heard by the press. While the above motion was still on the floor, a second motion, to suspend the rules and dismiss reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, was made, seconded, and passed. Commissioner Bomier then reminded the commission of the previous motion, which was then seconded and passed. The press present then asked the commissioners the number of the applicants. Bomier, the only one answering, said he didn't know. He then asked the press to comply with the wishes of the commission and leave. He was asked again by press representatives the number of the applicants. Commissioner Schmidt answered "Three".

The commission was asked if this meant that there were a total of 13 received so far, the answer to which was "Yes". The commission at its last meeting, announced the number of applications stood at 10.

Commissioner Bomier, in asking the press again to leave, said, "We're asking you to leave, don't be rude or we'll be rude too." The press representatives then asked if the meeting would be for the purpose of discussing applicants in particular or general applications.

Commissioner Bomier replied

Substitute Teacher Shortage Found in Elementary Grades

NEENAH — There is still a serious shortage of substitute teachers in the elementary grades for the balance of the school year, according to the office of the elementary supervisor, Neenah Joint School District. There will be a meeting of all substitutes at 3 p.m. Friday, in the office of Miss Mary Willis, administration building. All persons interested in substitute teaching positions are asked to call Miss Willis before Friday.

School Board Accepts Four Resignations

12 New Teachers Hired for 1963-64 Term in Neenah

NEENAH — The Neenah board of education acted officially Monday night to accept four resignations from the teaching staff and sign contracts with 12 new teachers.

William Dougherty, social problems instructor, at Neenah High School, resigned effective March 16. He will take a position with the State Farm Mutual Insurance Company in Neenah on March 24. Dougherty taught at Neenah High School four years.

Miss Janet Bell, kindergarten teacher at McKinley School, will return to the Manitowoc school system. Mrs. Elsie Harrington, first grade teacher at Washington School, tendered her resignation. The vocal music instructor, Mrs. Dorothy Leist, Spring Road School, has resigned to accept a full time position in the music department, of the Oshkosh public schools.

Filling Dougherty's position in the social studies department will be Wilson Scribner, Stevens Point, who has his master's degree from the University of Mississippi and completed his under graduate work at Central State College, Stevens Point. He has had no teaching experience.

On the high school level, Miss Carolyn Ewald will teach social studies; Miss Marion Leisnering, English, and Miss Charlotte Reinhard, English.

Junior high school instructors for the 1963-64 year who received contracts were Donald Weinmann, social studies and English, and Miss Karen Huth, English and French.

The six teachers hired for the primary department were: Miss Joby Jordan, Miss Madeline Jones, Miss Mary Walsh, Miss Charlyn Hoffes, Miss Ruth Mueller and Miss Patricia Thureen. Miss Mueller has had previous teaching experience and will come to Neenah from the West Allis school system.

In the recruiting program so far this spring the administration has called on 17 colleges and interviewed 200 persons, according to the superintendent's report. Dr. Scott pointed out that "this time of year we get the beginning teachers and by next month we will be receiving applications from teachers in other systems who wish to make a change. It has been a good recruiting year so far."

Equipment bids were accepted by the board of education for $2,006.49 of assorted athletic and physical education equipment. Badger Sporting Goods Co., Berggren Brothers Sport Shop, William Krueger Co. and Pond Sport Shop Inc. were the successful bidders.

Five bidders received a portion of the bids on audio-visual equipment totalling $1,699.60.

Schulz Music, Inc., Appleton, was awarded the bid on three Wurlitzer pianos, totalling $1,576.50. One of the piano comes out of bond issue money for Coolidge School, the remainder will be purchased from budget funds.

On recommendation from the building and grounds committee the school board approved change orders totalling $1,993.32, in favor of Rohde Brothers, plumbing contractor. Changing the showers in the physical education center to walk through showers accounted for $1,055.97 of this total.

One-Way Traffic 90 Day Trial Offered In Menasha Street Plan

MENASHA — Members of the Menasha Common Council Monday night informally agreed to a 90 day trial period changes in the city traffic pattern in an attempt to provide a secondary north-bound route by-passing the Third and Racine Street intersection.

The decision, unofficial, came after a lengthy argument over whether the public should be invited to attend a hearing on the proposals.

Council Wednesday night will decide on three parts of original plans concerning the one - way street proposals.

The parts include: No left turn west off Racine Street onto Broad Street. Broad Street one way east with traffic only from Racine to De Pere Street.

First Street one way west with traffic only from Racine to De Pere Street.

Parking
No parking on north side of First Street between Racine and Appleton Streets.

Also acting on by council will be a motion that parking be prohibited on the north side of Sixth Street from Milwaukee Street to the jog on Sixth Street in front of Banta School.

Original recommendations came under fire when Mayor John Klein suggested that persons affected by the changes be invited to attend a hearing on the proposals.

Sixth Ward Ald. Louis B. Gamme insisted that the police, fire and traffic safety committee had spent a good deal of time on the project and covered most problems that would be objectionable.

Fourth Ward Ald. Edward S. Stinski said he thought residents have a right to a public hearing. Third Ward. Ald. Morgan L.

Councilman Criticized by Menasha Mayor

'Personal Gain' Attempt Claimed Alderman's Goal

MENASHA — Mayor John Klein Monday night charged that a Menasha alderman is trying to sway council voting for personal gains and has told businessmen and residents to come to him instead of the mayor and city hall and "he would solve their problems."

Klein did not reveal the alderman's name or the ward he represents. He said "it has been brought to my attention that one of the aldermen has been making repeated calls to other aldermen. . . he has made attempts to get them to vote with him one way or other."

Klein said some of the alderman's activities began following a recent hearing on rezoning of the area known as Doty Tennis Courts located on the Island of Menasha.

Klein said he was for the rezoning of the area but had no bad feelings about the council's decision rejecting an ordinance changing the area from single to multi-family dwellings.

However, he said he resented the fact that an alderman contacted a Menasha businessman following council's action and said he was sorry for the way he voted.

Klein said the alderman also told businessmen that the council does not like the mayor and if they want to get future business through the council to contact him and he would personally see to it.

The mayor said he was "very disturbed" over the alderman's actions.

There was no reply, statements or questions to the mayor's charges.

Klein asked for the full cooperation of council and said the city still has opportunities for millions of dollars of projects in the near future.

"There is an awful lot we can do for the city. Aldermen should work for the city and not for personal gain," he declared.

The mayor's charges came after nearly three and a half hours of discussion by council on city business in which at times heated arguments threatened to break out.

ANY STRONG LEADER CAN CREATE A REVOLUTION!
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

False, not unless he can whip up the enthusiasm of the people. Eric Hoffer points out that not even Peter the Great, the greatest of the Czar, was able to create a revolution in Russia because he never succeeded in harnessing the wishes and hopes of the "common man" to his program. No revolution can succeed unless it can inspire mass enthusiasm. The ability to do this is the most important asset that a leader can have.

Can you get an ulcer from eating too fast?
Yes ☐ No ☐
No, probably not just from the way you eat. A reader asks, "Will eating fast and putting too much in your mouth cause indigestion and ulcer?" You might get indigestion from eating too fast, but ulcers are something else again. Ulcers are not completely understood, but they seem to be related to emotional problems and tension. Some babies have been found to have ulcers at birth, which is hard to interpret in the light of present knowledge. At any rate, why not slow down and enjoy your food?

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin senior Ken Siebel poured in seven consecutive points in the final minutes Monday night in leading the Badgers to a 75-69 Big Ten basketball victory over Iowa.

Siebel scored 18 points to run his career record at Wisconsin to 1,060, including 714 in Big Ten play and became the highest scorer in Badger history. The old records were 1,044 and 697 points by Dick Cable from 1953 through 1955.

Siebel broke a 64-64 deadlock with a field goal and a free throw and then added two more baskets as the Badgers pulled away to their third straight conference victory and seventh in 13 starts. The Badgers now have only one game left, against Michigan at Madison Saturday.

Wisconsin gained a 45-37 lead at the half but was unable to score from the floor for the first 7 1/2 minutes after the intermission. Lon Ostrom finally broke the spell with a 20-foot shot.

Iowa tied the count at 45 as the Badgers shooting was cold and moved ahead 49-48. The game then was tied several times before Siebel found the range.

Jack Brens led Wisconsin scorers with 20 points. Iowa, which has a 5-8 conference record, was led by Dave Roach with 21 points.

The game was marked by rough play and the officials called 33 fouls and two Iowa players, Jim Rodgers and Terry Lon, were ejected by the five personal foul rule.

64 WIAA Cage Teams Resume Play Tonight

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee North and Frederic, the top ranked large and small Wisconsin high school basketball teams, and 62 other survivors of regional tournament play resume action tonight in 32 sub-sectional meets.

The winners tonight will enter sectional tournaments Friday at eight sites. Sectional finals Saturday night will determine the field of eight for the state tournament at Madison March 14-16.

Milwaukee North and Frederic have similar records, both boasting 21 straight victories. North will meet Menomonee Falls at Menomonee Falls while Frederic plays Cumberland at Rice Lake. Pairings listed according to sectional site where the winners will compete this weekend.

Braves' Progress Pleases Manager

Bragan Eyes Funk, Raymond As Top Milwaukee Relievers

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Milwaukee Manager Bob Bragan plans to let his Braves have some fun today.

Bragan said that his National League baseball players have progressed so well in conditioning work "I think it is time to let the boys have some fun and play an intrasquad game."

"Playing under game conditions is valuable work, too," Bragan added.

Pitching coach Whit Wyatt said he probably would have young pitchers go for two innings each. He said he planned to use Dan Schneider, Arnie Umbach, Claude Raymond and Larry Maxie Burling against some of the veterans.

Bragan was happy for the personality clash at Cleveland last season that made it possible for the Braves to obtain relief pitcher Frank Funk from the Indians.

Had Falling Out

Funk had a falling out with manager Mel Geha of the Indians and was exiled to Salt Lake City last July. He was traded to the Braves in a deal which sent Joe Adcock to the Indians.

Bragan has tapped Funk and Raymond, a late season sensation last year, to handle the rally-stopping chores for Milwaukee.

"Frank is the ideal relief pitcher," Bragan said. "He keeps the ball low and has a sneaky fast ball and he can go in and get that strike out for you with those big runs on base."

The 27-year-old right-hander could offer no explanation for his run-in with Geha, now a Kansas City coach.

"I don't know what it was," Funk said. "Right now I just figure it as a year I want to forget."

Funk appeared in 47 games for the Indians last year and compiled a 2-1 record and a 3.22 earned run average.

Negro Drills With North Carolina Football Team

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Thomas B. Berrien, a tall, lean Negro without an athletic scholarship, is the first of his race to try out for the University of North Carolina football team.

Berrien, for two seasons a reserve quarterback at E. E. Smith High School in Fayetteville, N.C., turned out Monday as the Tar Heels began off-season practice.

Berrien, a freshman, asked for and was granted permission to report as a backfield candidate.

Coach Jim Hickley said, "He said he wanted to try out for wing-back."

OSU Clinches Big Ten Title Share, 85-65

Buckeyes Trim Gophers; Illinois Still in Contention

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With both Ohio State and Illinois winning Monday night, the Big Ten basketball title race goes down to the wire Saturday.

The Buckeyes, who have won the crown the last three years, were assured of at least a share of the championship by trouncing the Gophers at Minneapolis 85-65. OSU has an 11-2 league mark and winds up Saturday at highly-dangerous Indiana in a regionally televised game.

Illinois, dedicating its new Assembly Hall before a capacity crowd of 16,137 with a 79-73 triumph over Northwestern, has a 10-3 mark with a closing home game Saturday with Iowa.

An Ohio State loss and Illinois victory would make the two co-champions. Illinois would represent the Big Ten in the NCAA tournament since the Buckeyes have gone the last three years.

Purdue Edges MSU

In other games Monday night, Indiana hit 34 of 38 free throws—the first 25 in a row—in downing Michigan 104-96. Purdue took Michigan State 94-93, and Wisconsin defeated Iowa 75-69.

Minnesota ended its campaign with an 8-6 record and Purdue wound up with 2-12.

In other finales Saturday, Michigan is at Wisconsin and MSU at Northwestern.

Illinois went ahead of Northwestern for the first time in the opening minute of the last half but didn't pull in front to stay until the last seven minutes. Dave Davidson scored nine of his total 19 points to lead the winning surge. Bill Small also had 19 for the Illini while Tal Brody added 16 and Bill Burwell 12.

Downey ran his three-year record to 1,313 points to erase the school record of 1,299 by John Kerr nine years ago.

Ohio State piled up a 36-27 half-time edge and, when Minnesota failed to get a basket for five minutes later in the game, the Buckeyes rolled to an easy victory. All-America Gary Bradds topped the Bucks with 25 points and Dick Ricketts added 23.

Sun Devils Down Arizona, 58 to 53

Close Regular Season With 24-2 Mark; Kansas State Wins

BY SHELTON SAKOWITZ
Ohio State and Kansas State, having clinched a share of conference basketball championships, were one victory away today from capturing the titles outright and automatic berths in the NCAA tournament.
Ohio State, ranked third in the latest Associated Press poll, maintained its one-game advantage over Illinois in the Big Ten race with an 85-75 victory over Minnesota at Minneapolis Monday night. Illinois No. 8 nationally, turned back Northwestern at the opening of its new Assembly Hall, 79-73.

A showdown for first place also looms in the Big Eight after Kansas State whipped host Iowa State 78-71 and runner-up Colorado posted an 80-51 triumph at home over Nebraska.

The Wildcats boast an 11-2 league win-loss record with the Buffaloes still in contention at 10-3. The teams clash head-on at Manhattan Saturday night and a K-State conquest would give the Wildcats the title.

Could End in Tie

If Colorado wins, the race would end up in a tie. However, the Buffaloes would be the NCAA tournament entry because of having beaten the Wildcats twice in the regular season. In an earlier meeting at Kansas State, Colorado prevailed 70-53.

Only one other member of the top ten saw action Monday night. Fourth-ranked Arizona State, winner of the Western Athletic Conference, downed Arizona 58-53. The Sun Devils wound up with a 9-1 league mark and 24-2 overall.

Arizona State meets Utah State in the first round of the NCAA Far West Regionals next Monday at Eugene, Ore.

Arlin Burt Hits 262 Game in Little Chute

Arlin Burt pounded a 262 game and a 619 series to pace action in the Businessmen's League at Little Chute Recreation.
Bob Verbeten posted 246 and 618 for runner-up honors. Other high scores were hit by Ray Migon, 552, and Ed Van Berkel, 553.

Pat Hooyman topped a 222 single and Lucille Schmidt rolled a 561 series to lead the Thursday Women's League at Bowling Bar, Kaukauna.

Other honor scores went to Liz Obermeyer, 191, 540; Dorothy Hitzgenberg, 202, 516; Dorothy Siebers, 192; Annie Kerslen, 525; Joan Casperson, 197, and Lucille Schmidt, 195, 209.

Wayne Kilsdonk rolled a 567 series for the lone honor score in the Kimberly-Clark Mill League at 41 Bowl.

Cassius Says He Wants to Settle Newspaper Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay, the brash young heavyweight contender, has centered his verbosity on the 86-day-old newspaper strike that has shut down the city's major metropolitan dailies.

The New York Post resumed publication Monday but the publicity-conscious Clay is afraid that his bout with Doug Jones in New

Bo Winger Wins Tourney

Tops Rosburg, Lema by 3 Strokes At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—It turns out that Bo Winger, the champion of the Greater New Orleans Open golf tournament for the second straight time, wasn't joking after all.

A fast man with a quip, Winger had fun with sports writers and fans in the early rounds of the $40,000 tournament, saying they paid too much attention to golf's golden trio—Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus.

"Who's the defending champion of this tournament?" he'd ask with a big grin. "Not those guys."

Wipes Out Lead

He proved his point in the final round Monday over Lakewood Country Club's 7,000-yard course, wiping out Bob Rosburg's 2-stroke lead and then going ahead to whip Rosburg and Tony Lema by three strokes.

Winger posted a 3-under-par 36-38-69 for a 72-hole total of 279. The winner's check of $6,400 was his largest of the tour.

Rosburg finished with a 74 for a 282 total, even with Tony Lema who finished with a 73. Each got $3,050.

Behind them, Jacky Cupit and Doug Sanders tied for fourth at 283 and Player came home sixth with 284. Al Geiberger was seventh at 286 and Nicklaus and Jerry Edwards tied for eighth with 288.

Palmer closed out with a 71, his only sub-par round, and finished with a 290 total in a six-way tie for 14th place.

Takes Lead in ABC Tourney; Charlton Hits 703

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—"A year later and a lot better" could be the slogan for the Pagnotti Coal Co. of Old Forge, Pa., which was in first place in the regular division of the American Bowling Congress today.

The Pagnotti racked up a 3,111 series Monday night on games of 1,041, 1086 and 1,015, to move 80 pins ahead of Saratoga Lanes of Maplewood, Mo., which had led since Feb. 23.

Exactly a year before, the Pagnotti shot 2,941 at Des Moines, and finished 47th among the regular teams in the 1962 ABC Strike 'n Spare of Chicago won the $2,500 first prize last year with 3,128.

Corino's Market of Scotia, N.Y., rolled 3,001 Monday to take third place in the regular team division. Eddie Charlton of Springfield, Ill., couldn't strike on the second ball in his final frame, costing him first place in the regular singles. His 703 three-game total put him in a fourth-place tie with Bill Palovick of Bryarn, Conn.

Ron Hatem of Lawrence, Mass., hung on to the lead with the 707 he shot last Wednesday.

Jerry Lamers Fires 277 Line And 658 Set

Jerry Lamers pounded a 277 game and a 658 series to pace the Kimberly Classic League at Little Chute Recreation alleys.

The loop formerly bowled at Jerry's Lanes. The remaining four weeks of action will be bowled at 41 Bowl.

Lamers opened with three strikes, had a 9-pin spare, hit seven more strikes and then had eight pins for his high game. Other honor scores were hit by Jerry Migton, 232, 648; Jack Burton, 225, 599; Dave Williamsen, 571; Bill Goffard, 570; Tom Reider, 554, and Floyd Hammen, 225.

Cloe Sprister hit a 138 game and a 504 series for the lone honor count in the Women's League at Little Chute Recreation. Little Chute Rec leads, with a 41 - 28 mark.

Norm Kirk rolled a 234 game, and Ben Van Dyke hit a 599 series to lead the Darboy League at the Bowling Bar, Kaukauna. Other high scores were hit by Tony Welhouse, 565, and Rich Dietzen, 553.

West's Kloss Named FRVC's Coach of Year

conference championship in history and today was named the conference's Coach of the Year by Valley sportswriters.

He too ka team figured as a spoiler and rated fourth in pre-season forecasting to a 13-1 record and the title with a sharp defense.

Earns Respect
Kloss' team earned the respect of opponents for its sound, fundamental play as well as its amazing clutch ability and poise. Time and again the Wildcats, hampered by a lack of depth, claimed victory by narrow margins.

The team typified Kloss' coaching philosophy that a winning team must be "well grounded in fundamentals and must have strict team discipline. . . that is, they must do things as a team my way and only my way until I'm proven wrong."

Kloss doesn't feel, however, that this is all that is involved in winning games. He thinks there are three key factors, the biggest of which is "material, you have to have the horses." The other things are fundamentals and the psychological ability of the coach.

"All coaches are fundamentally sound," Kloss contends. "The difference in a game is often the ability of one coach to get his team 'up,' ready mentally, for the game."

While basketball is the only current coaching interest of the 40-year-old strategist who regularly chews gum with fury to calm twitching nerves, it has not always been his only interest.

A native of Neenah and graduate of Neenah High, Kloss earned 10 letters at Ripon College as a football quarterback, track sprinter and basketball star. He served five years in the Army before entering college, playing basketball and football in the service. He graduated from Ripon in 1949.

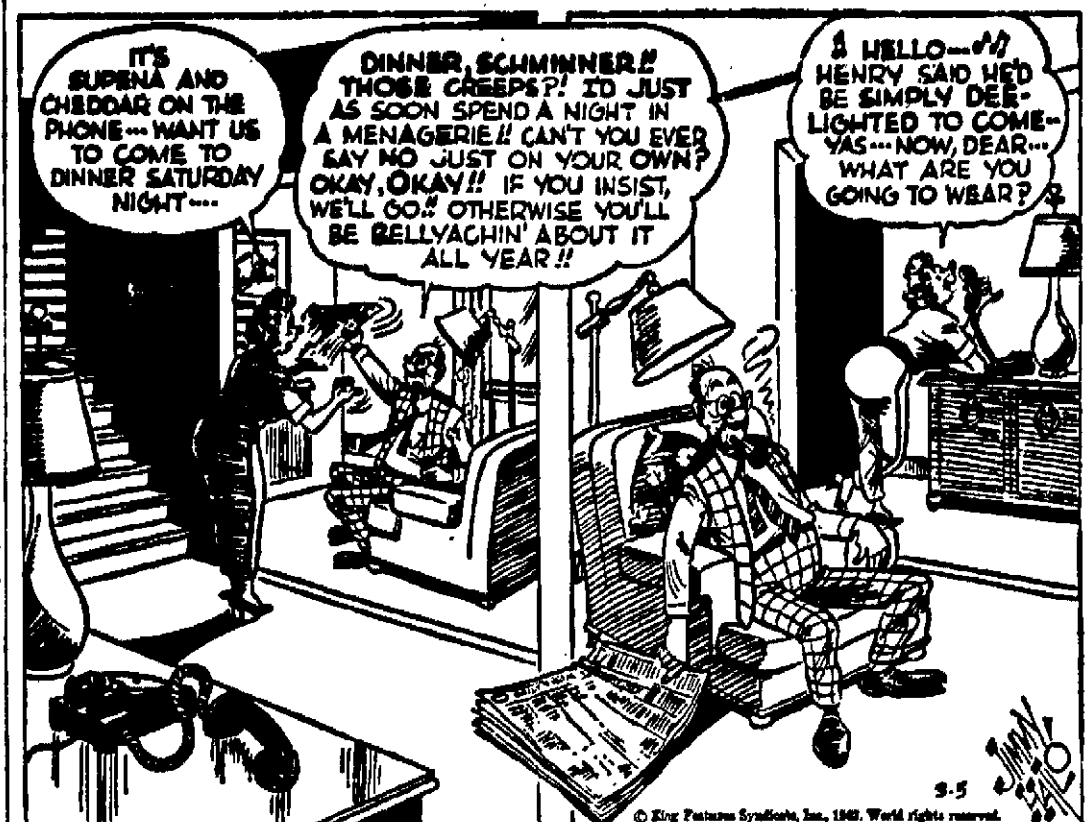

His first coaching job was a three-year stint at Ripon High School before moving to La Crosse Central where his cage teams won more than 60 per cent of their games, reaching the state tournament in 1956.

After seven years at Central, Kloss stepped into Fossum's big shoes and produced a 47-25 regular schedule record in his four years at West.

The crew-cut Kloss is married and he and his wife, June, have three children: Steve, 10; Kathy, 8, and Robbie, 2½.

factor in their selections as only three players on the two teams top the 6-foot mark. Payette is the tallest, at 6-2, followed by Danen and Van Rite at 6-1 each. Feller and Johnson are the smallest at 5-8.

Xavier had two men, John Heinritz and Bob DeBruin on the honorable mention list. Gib Hietpas and Jay Lamers of Little Chute St. John also were on the honor list along with John Tism of St. Mary's Menasha. At the business portion of the meeting it was decided to hold the conference tennis meet at Lourdes, Oshkosh; golf meet at the Fond du Lac Springs and the track meet at Abbot Pennings, DePere. All eight conference schools will have track teams this season for the first time in history. In addition, seven schools will compete in golf and the eighth, Pennings, will enter on a tournament basis only. Four schools — Premontr, Xavier, St. Mary Menasha and Lourdes — will have tennis teams.

Hawkiets Gain Tourney Finals

The Hawkiets trimmed the Badgers, 67-46, to move into the finals of the Eighth Grade ARD Basketball Tournament.

Pat Garvey hit 21 points to lead the Badgers, and Art Zuleger tallied 20 to pace the Hawkiets. The Spartans and Hawkiets will tangle for the championship, at 6:45 p.m., Wednesday, at the James Madison Junior High School Gym. The Spartans are made up of the Roosevelt public school champions and the Hawkiets are made up of the St. Therese Catholic school champions.

Floods Force Hundreds to Leave Homes

High Waters Affect 4-State Area, Melting Snow Swells Rivers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hundreds of persons from four states—Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Pennsylvania—have been forced from their homes by floodwaters after drenching rains and melting snows.

More rain splashed across wide areas in the flood-stricken areas. Rain also continued in many other parts of the eastern half of the nation, with more snow in Northern and Western sections.

Ohio reported the state's worst flood conditions in four years. Hundreds of persons were evacuated from their homes, and scores of families were marooned. With more rain predicted, the Weather Bureau in Cincinnati said the Ohio River appeared likely to be bank-full along its 961-mile route.

100 Families Evacuated

More than 100 families in residential sections of Wheeling, W.Va., a city of about 57,000, were evacuated and 500 persons were reported forced to leave their homes from Vienna, south of Wheeling. Flooding also was reported in Wellsburg, McKinleyville and Moundsville while the small town of Louise was reported isolated by the floodwaters. High water forced the closing of a Wheeling machine products plant employing about 600 men. Streams in many other areas in West Virginia were overflowing.

An emergency was declared in Newark, a central Ohio town of 39,000, as the Licking River and tributaries neared flood stage. Fifty families were marooned in Newtown near Steubenville and boats were sent to the town by special train.

Some 1,500 persons were isolated in the village of Morrow, in southern Ohio. Emergency shelters were set up in Springfield as the Mad River reached three feet below flood stage. Some railroad tracks in Springfield were inundated.

Talk of Annual Sessions Heard In Legislature

State Senator Has Introduced Measure On Familiar Subject

BY RICHARD BRAUTIGAM

MADISON (AP) — After Gov. John W. Reynolds gives his tax program Thursday, after the Republican controlled Legislature has rejected it, after the state has been subjected to weeks of political wrangling — then somebody is going to suggest that the Legislature should meet annually to avoid such frustrations.

Someone always does, but so far there have been few listeners.

This year may be different. In Madison Monday for an early start on this week's session, Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, GOP floorleader from Minocqua, said there has been some talk of the subject already, but nothing of a concrete nature.

And State Sen. Charles J. Schmidt, D-Milwaukee, somewhat beforehand or, perhaps, before armed, has introduced a little noticed bill on the subject.

"All for it"

"I wouldn't listen to the idea of annual sessions a year ago," Alfonsi told the Associated Press, "but now I am all for it."

Alfonsi said he couldn't speak for other legislators, "but I think you will find many thinking along this line."

One of them, a Democrat has gone so far as to introduce a bill on the subject.

He's Sen. Charles J. Schmidt of Milwaukee.

Schmidt's bill, however, fails to take into account that the constitution now allows only one legislative session every two years.

The Milwaukee senator says that if the Legislature feels it can not get around that technicality, any reform in holding sessions will have to be put off until a constitutional amendment can be adopted. That would take two sessions and a vote of approval in a referendum.

Schmidt's bill attempts to consider two annual sessions as one. It would have the Legislature meet in regular session in odd numbered years, as now, and adopt a one year budget and whatever other legislation comes before it. This first session would be limited to 120 days, then would recess to return the following February. The adjourned session would be limited to 30 days and to the budget and taxes.

According to Schmidt, he is not wedded to the specific details of the bill, but is mainly concerned with bringing the subject of annual sessions and annual budgets before the Legislature.

Injured Aerialist to Return to Big Top

MADISON (AP) — Mary Lou Lawrence, 26-year-old circus aerialist injured three weeks ago in a 35-foot fall, said Monday she plans to return to the Big Top as soon as she recovers—and will again perform without a net.

The Crown Point, Ind., performer still is in serious condition in a Madison hospital. She suffered a fractured skull and a broken collarbone when she fell to a concrete floor during a Shrine circus performance.

"I just don't perform with a net," Miss Lawrence said.

Her doctor said that she is making marked improvement but that complete recovery is months away.

Taxpayers Help Finance Education For Daughter of Congressman

BY WILLIAM MCGAFFIN

CHICAGO Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — The U.S. taxpayers don't know it, but they are helping finance the college education of a Congressman's daughter.

This was confirmed by a telephone interview with Katherine E. Meader, 23-year-old daughter of Rep. George Meader (R-Mich.).

Katherine is drawing $167.54 a month on her father's Congressional payroll while attending the University of Florida at Gainesville, Fla.

How can she draw a Congressional employee's salary at the same time she is going to college?

"Baby Letters"

Katherine's job, she said, is to "send out baby letters" for her father. Or rather, she addresses an envelope and stuffs a form letter into it.

The letters go, together with a government-financed baby booklet, to new parents in the Congressman's district.

"We get the names of the new parents out of the newspapers," Katherine explained. She does not have to bother about the booklets. They are mailed from Washington.

"The money is a big help in getting me through college," said Katherine. "It takes care of the rent of my apartment and my food." Her father, she said, would not be able to meet all of her expenses. His salary, as a Congressman, is $22,500 a year. There is one other child in the family, a son.

$2,000 Yearly

Katherine has been "working" her way through college with this unique job, which supplies her with more than $2,000 a year, ever since she entered the University of Florida in September of 1961. The fact has only just come to light, however, through a survey being conducted into Congressmen who have relatives on their payroll.

Because of credits gained at another university she attended previously, Katherine said that she will receive a Bachelor's Degree in nursing this coming December.

Each Congressman gets an allotment of baby booklets to send his constituents, she explained. The booklet, entitled "Infant Care," is supplied by the Department of Defense, she said.

"He seems to have quite a reproductive district," said Katherine. "We send out between 2,000 and 3,000 a month."

Actually, Katherine was a little mixed up on these two points.

The booklets are supplied, not by the Defense Department, but by the Children's Bureau of the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

And the allotment Rep. Meader gets each month, according to a spokeswoman for the children's bureau, is not 2,000 to 3,000 but 200.

Katherine, then, it would appear, gets paid $167.54 for addressing 200 envelopes a month.

Eyebrows Raised at Reynolds' Request to Up Staff's Wages

MADISON (AP)—The Republican-controlled legislative Joint Finance Committee looked with suspicion Monday on Gov. John W. Reynolds' request for a 20 percent pay increase for his staff employees.

The increases were contained in the executive office budget request of $327,062, or $30,273 more than in the current biennium.

Budget hearings Monday marked the beginning of a long drawn out process in which some 75 state agencies will parade before the committee to justify their spending requests for 1963-65.

Wayne McGown, senior analyst of the Department of Administration, told the committee the pay for the governor's 14-member staff now totals $122,780 a year, including the governor's pay of $20,000.

Draheim Against

Sen. William Draheim, R-Neshanic, reflected the general feeling of Republicans that the proposed pay boosts were "out of line."

State GOP Will Hear Rockefeller

Governor Seeks to See How His Liberalism Accepted in Wisconsin

BY DON HENDERSON

MILWAUKEE (AP)—New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller returns to Wisconsin Saturday to address the annual Republican $100-a-plate dinner and to see whether his liberalism generates a warmer reception among the state GOP leadership than it did in 1959.

However, the titular head of the GOP in the state will not be taking part in the strategy discussions with the New Yorker, a leading candidate for the party's presidential nomination next year.

Philip G. Kuehn, who narrowly lost the governor's chair to Democrat John W. Reynolds in November, was hospitalized Monday with pneumonia. His wife said that his participation will be limited to wired good wishes.

Kuehn Hospitalized

Absence of Kuehn, who has been able to hold the two factions of the state party more or less together with his leadership, may further complicate the visit for Rockefeller. In 1959, the Wisconsin GOP was overwhelmingly dominated by Richard Nixon sentiment, and whether the sentiment departed the scene with Nixon is in some doubt.

Sale of tickets for the affair has not been notably brisk so far, and program planners announced that balcony seats for those who want to hear Rockefeller's address will be sold at $2.00 instead of $5 as was charged last year when the same Auditorium was an announced sell-out at a similar fund-raising event addressed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz. Parker said Monday it was too soon to make any predictions about the size of the audience Saturday.

Congratulations Sent

Republican National Chairman William Miller took note of the situation Monday when he sent congratulations to Republican State Chairman Claude Jasper for the party's "leadership and initiative in bringing to the people of Wisconsin, within the span of less than a year, two of the leading spokesmen of the Republican Party."

Rockefeller will arrive at Milwaukee's Billy Mitchell Field at 10:45 a.m. Saturday and hold a news conference at the Milwaukee Press Club at 11:30 a.m. He is scheduled to attend private luncheon, then in the afternoon meet with the executive committee of the state party organization.

At 5:30 p.m., he will go to a public reception sponsored by the state Young Republicans organization at the Pfister Hotel, then to another at the Auditorium an hour later.

The dinner begins at 7 p.m., with Rockefeller's address set for 8:45 p.m. He will leave for New York at 10:00 p.m.

Rockefeller Raps Kennedy Plans For Civil Rights

BY CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called into President Kennedy's new civil rights program today, claiming that it ignored major campaign promises and came "two years too late."

The Republican governor, an undeclared candidate for next year's Republican presidential nomination, was sharply critical in his first comment on the proposals Kennedy sent to congress last week.

Rockefeller chose as his forum a rally sponsored by the New York State conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In his prepared remarks, he said the Kennedy program was "a step in the right direction" but complained that it covered only five of 28 legislative recommendations of the federal Civil Rights Commission.

Kennedy's major proposals were designed to reinforce the Negro's right to vote and to attend desegregated schools. He also asked for an extension by at least four years of the life of the Civil Rights Commission.

State-Wide Rally On Conservation Proposals Set

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A state-wide rally of supporters of the "People's Lobby" for conservation objectives will be held here Saturday to organize a campaign on behalf of major conservation proposals in the current legislature.

Martin Hanson of Mellen, acting president of the group, said Gov. Reynolds will be the speaker.

Gov. Nelson, as governor a year ago, sponsored formation of the group for the advocacy of broad-gauged conservation goals. All conservation and related organizations have been invited to join the organization which is formally called the Wisconsin Council for Resource Development and Conservation.

Red Chinese Refuse Colombo Proposals

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China says it "will never accept any international arbitration" of its border dispute with India. The official Peking People's Daily rejected today India's demand that Red China accept the proposals made by the Colombo conference of neutrals, as well as clarifications that have been made of these proposals.

Mansfield Assails GOP Claims Public Misled About Cuba

Charges Kennedy's Patriotism
Impugned by Rep. Arends, Illinois

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield today challenged Republican contentions that President Kennedy has misled the public and has denied congressional leaders intelligence information on Cuba.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview that Rep. Leslie C. Arends, R-Ill., had impugned the President's patriotism by charging Kennedy knew before Oct. 14 the Russians were installing offensive missiles on the island.

Arends' charge—made Monday night at a GOP political rally in St. Petersburg, Fla.—was that the administration is not even "telling the full story of Cuba" at closed door briefings of leaders of both parties.

In other developments related to the Cuban situation:

Informed sources said the Soviet Union appears to be slowly withdrawing some of its troops from Cuba. They said daily reports come in on ship sailings from Cuba and that apparently a few more troops are leaving every day.

Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., suggested a Senate probe of bi-monthly payments which four American women have been receiving since their husbands apparently died on a flying mission during the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion attempt.

Criticism Keating

In his interview, Mansfield also accused Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., of "setting up a straw man so he can knock it down" by telling the Senate there have been "deliberate attempts" to suppress intelligence information.

"Not true," Mansfield said to Keating's charge that efforts are under way to make intelligence agencies the scapegoat for what has happened in Cuba.

Arends, the deputy House Republican leader and a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said Lt. Gen. Thomas P. Gerry had testified that the Air Force "went into high gear to support the Cuban plan on the tenth of October." This was four days before Kennedy said he had received the first hand information on offensive missile sites.

"The lords of the Kennedy dynasty have put into effect a system for controlling the news so that we can learn only what they want us to know," Arends said.

Mansfield said it was true that prior to the President's action clamping a quarantine on Cuba, Marines were moving toward the Caribbean, the Strategic Air Command had been put on "an extraordinary alert, the Navy was put on a wartime basis and the Army was alerted, with many elements placed in a state of wartime readiness."

"But I resent any allegation that this administration has not been telling the full story of Cuba at leadership meetings," he said. "It is just not true."

"The facts on missile sites and range have been given, as well as where the information came from and when."

Survivors Tell Of Bus Tragedy

Occurs After Driver
Has Heart Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—A hospital bus plunged into the East River when its driver was stricken, and seven of the 11 aboard are dead or missing.

"The bus was completely submerged. I can't swim. I knew I was going to die," said one of four survivors of Monday's accident on Welfare Island.

Elizabeth Newton, 41, said she literally hung on to the coattails of another passenger, Richard Haas, 36, who broke through a door and dragged her up to the surface.

Driver Stricken
The bus careened off a road on Welfare Island when the driver, John Alberts, 51, apparently suffered a heart attack.

Six persons, including Alberts, are known dead. One woman is missing.

Senate Passes First Bills Since Session Opened 2 Months Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed its first bills of the 1963 session which began Jan. 9—but a long haul seems to be ahead.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told his fellow senators not to expect an Easter vacation or final adjournment before October or November.

The Senate, tied in knots for weeks by wrangles over rules and organization procedures, ground out its initial bills, both by voice votes, Monday.

They were:
A measure to authorize a $24.167 payment to the city and county of Honolulu from the Hawaiian Housing Commission.
A measure making a supplemental $508,172,000 appropriation to reimburse the Commodity Credit Corp. for the sale, in foreign currencies, of surplus agricultural commodities abroad. This measure, a hangover from 1962, now goes to the White House.

Bidault on TV In London Irks Paris Officials

French Declare
Underground Chief

BY ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP)—A cloak-and-dagger television appearance here by hunted French underground chief Georges Bidault threatened today to open a new rift in the uneasy relations between Britain and France.

French officials expressed hurt surprise that the government-financed British Broadcasting Corp. gave a public forum to a man whose only purpose, they said, is the assassination of President Charles de Gaulle.

Opposition leaders in Parliament demanded a government explanation of how Bidault slipped into Britain through the security net.

De Gaulle Assailed
The liberal newspaper the Guardian said it understood the government had agreed previously to a French request not to grant refuge to Bidault and a number of other persons accused of activities against the French state.

Bidault, a former French premier who heads the outlawed National Council of the resistance (CNR), said in a taped television interview broadcast Monday night that his organization will topple De Gaulle from power.

"I think our chance is better than Churchill's (against the Nazis), in 1940," he declared.

The CNR is the political arm of the terrorist Secret Army Organization, but Bidault ducked when asked if he endorsed terrorist methods.

"It is impossible to give an answer as to what desperate men may do," he said. "The declaration of human rights states that in case of tyranny the final resort is the duty to revolt."

He denied, however, that the CNR had passed the death sentence on De Gaulle.

"That is what the French government is saying," he said. "It is just one more lie."

Bidault, 62, was a wartime leader of the anti-Nazi underground in France and was one of De Gaulle's closest associates until they broke over Algerian independence.

Bidault is wanted in France on treason charges. Since he fled from there early in 1962 he has turned up in various European capitals and has been interviewed at undisclosed European locations.

The BBC said it contacted Bidault through an unnamed intermediary and arranged a meeting somewhere in West London. Bidault was taken to a studio for the interview. After it was over, he was dropped off in a London street and disappeared.

Railroads, Unions Will Confer on Work Rules

At Stake in Discussions

CHICAGO (AP)—Five railroad unions, representing 210,000 on-train employees and seeking to save the possible elimination of 65,000 jobs, will meet with the nation's carriers next week in a climactic session of their long dispute over changes in work rules.

The new bargaining talks were set for March 13 after the U.S. Supreme Court Monday upheld the right of the railroads to make sweeping changes in work rules to eliminate jobs regarded by the carriers as unnecessary. The lines claim what they term antiquated work rules cost them $600 million a year.

Roads to Act Promptly

A railroad spokesman and chief negotiator said the carriers will "move promptly as possible" to make the work rules changes. He added he was confident there would be no national rail strike.

But spokesmen for two brotherhoods warned of a possible strike if the railroads put the changes into effect before an agreement can be reached.

The new talks in Chicago will deal with the proposed elimination of about 40,000 firemen from diesel locomotives in freight and yard service. The Association of American Railroads said if this issue is settled, other points relating to a drastic revision in pay structure and make-up crews will be discussed.

The five unions—trainmen, firemen, engineers, conductors and switchmen who run trains on 135 railroads—contend the work rules would eliminate some 65,000 workers, including 40,000 firemen. They maintain that the present work rules and the jobs they provide are necessary for safe and efficient operation of trains.

Strike Would Be Delayed
Chairman Leverett Edwards of the National Mediation Board said that if no agreement is reached at the new bargaining sessions and a strike is called, a new presidential emergency board will be named to study the dispute. That would automatically delay both a strike and the carrying out of the rules changes for at least 60 days.

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief negotiator for the carriers, said that "certainly the union leaders know that this country can and will not stand for a nationwide railroad strike."

French Miners Defy De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—The bulk of France's 200,000 coal miners flouted President Charles de Gaulle's orders to return to work today and continued their strike for higher wages.

Reports from the government-owned mines and union officials said that between 90 and 95 per cent of the miners in the vast northern France fields and in the Lorraine district of eastern France still refused to work.

The miners have been on strike since Friday.

4 Youths Killed When Auto Hits Bridge Abutment

DURAND (AP)—Four young men from the Durand area were killed early today when their auto crashed into a bridge abutment on a county road and burst into flames.

A fifth young man was thrown from the car and was injured critically.

The victims were Leigh Johnson, 21; Roger Taylor, 23, and Roger Brantner, 23, all of Durand, and Mike Gauvin, 20, of Eau Claire.

Arnold Snyder, 19, of Durand, was hospitalized in Eau Claire in critical condition.

Apparently there were no witnesses to the accident, which occurred in a remote area of Pepin County about 9 miles southwest of Durand.

Dennis Lehar of Pepin, his wife and two children, came across the flaming wreckage and telephoned the sheriff's office.

The auto belonged to Brantner, but authorities said they were unable to determine who was driving. They said most of the bodies were burned beyond recognition.

The group had been seen in Durand earlier in the evening, but their destination at the time of the crash, believed to be about 1:40 a.m., was not known.

Many Cubans Armed Wherever They Travel

I went to a Russian motion picture one evening and noticed that many boys and girls cut on dates at the movies lugged along their guns—a somewhat incongruous sight as they held hands with one

No Progress in New York Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner called negotiators for New York newspaper publishers and striking printers into another mediation session today.

Wagner, who has been seeking to settle the dispute since Jan. 26, said early today that no progress was made in talks Monday and Monday night.

Walter N. Thayer, president of the Herald Tribune, said at a news conference that "a genuine effort on the part of the union to negotiate a settlement" has been noted.

Thayer said, however, "I'm not yet encouraged that this means we're going to reach a settlement."

As the dispute went into its 88th day, four of the city's major newspapers were closed by the printers' strike, four were closed voluntarily. The New York Post is publishing.

William H. Pifer, executive vice president of the H. C. Prange company's Appleton store since 1958, and general manager of the store since 1946, will retire April 1, it was announced to company employees today.

Pifer, 1968 Palisades Drive, will be succeeded as general manager of the store by Jerome W. Glaeser, 41, present general merchandising manager.

B. Robert Masse, 34, store operations manager, has been appointed assistant manager.

Active in Fox Cities community and service organizations, Pifer joined the Prange company in March, 1945, as general merchandising manager and assistant store manager at the Green Bay store.

The following year he came to Appleton as manager of the Pettibone-Peabody store, which had just been acquired by Prange. He was elected executive vice president of the Appleton Prange store in the spring of 1958.

On Board

Pifer is also a member of the firm's board of directors. Prior to joining the Prange organization, he was associated with the Younkers Department store, Des Moines, Ia., for 29 years, rising from stock boy to merchandising manager.

Following his retirement, Pifer will continue his association with the Prange organization as a consultant.

New Manager

Jerome Glaeser, the newly-appointed manager, is starting his 23rd year with the Prange company. He has worked in all of the Prange stores, and has been in Appleton for three years. A native of Sheboygan, he is vice president of the Noon Optimist Club, and has served two tours of duty with the U.S. Marine Corps.

He is married and has a 16-year-old daughter.

B. Robert Masse, the new assistant manager, is a graduate of the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, Boston. A U.S. Navy veteran, he joined the Prange company three years ago. He is a native of Connecticut and formerly was employed by the Prudential Insurance Co. of America.

Russian Missiles in Red China Puzzle U. S. Intelligence Experts

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN
AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — That highly publicized but questionable split between Moscow and Peiping hasn't stopped Soviet Premier Khrushchev from sending a thousand ground-to-air missiles to Communist China.

This secret Russian help in building up Red China's air defenses was uncovered by U. S. reconnaissance satellites and surveillance planes flying over strategic areas of China in recent missions.

Twenty-one separate SA-2 ground-to-air missile sites similar to those that the Soviets are now operating in Cuba, have been photographed so far by high-flying U-2 planes and Samos satellites.

At each of these SAM sites, the reconnaissance cameras spotted antennas from 40 to 60 missiles and their telltale launchers.

U-2 Plane Shot Down
This alarming missile discovery was the direct result of a systematic surveillance program launched last September by the Air Force after a Formosa-based U-2 plane was shot down by the Chinese Communists while flying over the mainland.

This unexpected show of power by the Chinese Communists, which brought to an end the hit and miss U-2 surveillance flights over the mainland, convinced U. S. intelligence officials that Khrushchev had turned his first SA-2 missiles over to Mao.

This suspicion was fully confirmed a week later when a specially launched Samos satellite, passing over the same area, took the first photos of one of these SAM bases in China.

Since this Samos mission rocked the U. S. intelligence community, another 20 sites have been located scattered along China's vast Eastern seacoast and near the largest and most important inland military bases. Also, the U. S. learned from other sources that these missile sites were constructed by Soviet military technicians.

Taking Another Look
This latter discovery along with the missile findings has touched off a sharp debate among the President's chief advisers over the accuracy of government policy estimates of the Sino-Soviet dispute.

visers over the accuracy of government policy estimates of the Sino-Soviet dispute.

One group, headed by Director

John McCone, of the Central Intelligence Agency, is using the new intelligence to challenge the State Department's policy assessment that there is a deep split between China and Russia.

While recognizing the existence of ideological differences between Khrushchev and Mao, the McCone group argues that the Soviet missile assistance clearly indicates that the two Communist leaders are working closely together in building a military machine to oppose the U. S.

The other group, headed by Dr. Walt Rostow, chairman of the State Department Planning Commission, contends that "the antagonisms between Moscow and Peiping are so deep-seated that we cannot foresee any genuine reconciliation of the dispute, at least while Mao and Khrushchev hold power."

President Undecided
They contend that the Soviet missile help to China is inconclusive and that the delivery of MIG-21 interceptors (only six) to India by the Kremlin is counterproof that there is a deep split.

President Kennedy is reportedly undecided which of the two clashing views to follow in his policy making, although in the past he has leaned toward the Rostow group, which includes McGeorge Bundy, his special foreign policy adviser in the White House.

Within 600 miles of where the Soviet Union tests its atomic bombs in Siberia, the Chinese Communists may have touched off their first nuclear explosion on the "roof of the world."

This suspected atomic test, reported out of India early in February but not confirmed, may have taken place in early January at the same time the Russians were winding up their latest series of nuclear explosions.

Japanese Report
Reliable Japanese sources with contacts on the China mainland reported to U. S. intelligence in Tokyo last month that the Chinese Reds detonated a very low grade nuclear device in the northwest corner of Chang Tang province on the great Plateau of Tibet.

According to this Japanese report, one of their Chinese contacts actually witnessed the explosion, including the formation of the mushroom cloud. Previous information from China furnished by this source has checked out to be very accurate.

The Atomic Energy Commission is now making a world-wide inquiry to determine if the explosion, which was not recorded in the U. S., was registered as an earthquake by any other country.

Since the Russians set off a large nuclear explosion in nearby Siberia on the same day, U. S. officials admit that radioactive material from the Chinese test, if it occurred, could have become mixed with those fallout samplings and gone undetected.

One theory for the Chinese Communist silence is that if they did explode a low-grade nuclear device they would keep that quiet until the first full-scale bomb is tested — an event Peiping is expected to announce to the entire world.

Kaukauna Sets Forensics Date

133 Students in Festival Starting Wednesday Night

KAUKAUNA — Approximately 133 Kaukauna High School students will participate in the annual forensic festival starting at 6 p. m., Wednesday at the school.

Although invitations have been sent to parents of participating students, the affair is open to the public, according to Paul Kulas, instructor. Visitors may take in different speeches throughout the school, but are asked not to enter rooms while a student is speaking.

Competition Set

A local elimination contest will be held the next night with talks judged and graded. Forensic students are not required to enter competition, but all will participate in the festival.

Coaches include Mrs. Patrick Netzel, Donald Jensen and Mrs. Ethel Deloria, declamation; Mrs. John Van De Loo and Miss Lorraine Dudley, interpretive reading of prose; Bruce Warner and Miss Mary Louise Finne, interpretive reading of poetry; Joseph Vander Zanden, four-minute speaking; Dennis Kral, non-original oratory; Mrs. Kenneth Roloff, play reading; Francis DeBruin, original oratory and declamation, and extemporaneous speaking and public address, Paul Kulas.

Counties Want Higher Rural Road Standards

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—Local road officials are demanding higher standards of design, construction and maintenance on rural roads.

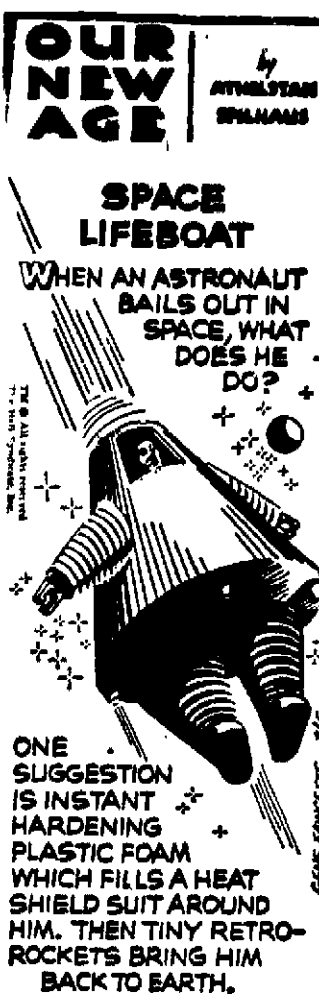

The Wisconsin County Highway Committee Members Association has asked a legislative commission which is working on the revision of standards for rural road building has asked the group to endorse a rule providing for the construction of five feet of shoulder on each side of all future county trunk highways.

"Modern day traffic needs place increasing demands on counties to build safer highways," the resolution of the county officials said.

The same group has proposed to the state highway department that it require that all grass and weeds be cut to the property line on all of the state highway system, as an encouragement to the Wisconsin tourist travel industry.

France, Red China Haunt Swiss Talks

Peking Says It Won't be Bound By Treaty It Didn't Negotiate

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of American-Russian talks on disarmament and banning nuclear tests the whole business still looks like a haunted house.

Two ghostly figures stare in the window but never come in: Red China and France. They take no part in the test ban talks. And China has said it will never be bound by a settlement it didn't negotiate itself.

If tomorrow this country and Russia reached agreement on banning tests, the Red Chinese, not a party to it, could begin their own tests when they were ready, which may be in another year or so.

Why then the test ban talks with Russia at all? First things first, is the United States' view. The first problem is getting Russia to agree to a ban. That's tough in itself and hasn't been done yet.

Then the problem is getting all other nations, which may want to develop nuclear weapons, to adhere to the ban. In short, this is the philosophy: "We'll worry about Red China when we come to it."

More Complicated

But the picture is more complicated than that. The world is no nearer disarmament than when this country and Russia first began talking about it in 1946.

Earlier this year the chance for a test ban looked brighter than at any time in the past. Then the talks on this collapsed. Red China's relations with Russia doubly complicate the problem.

Those relations are getting worse by the day. The two Communist giants may become enemies. Russia can't tell Red China what to do. Russia has an arsenal of nuclear weapons. China has none.

In case of trouble, China would be at Russia's mercy. So, it's taken for granted China is working overtime to develop its own nuclear weapons supply. It hasn't advanced far enough for a test yet.

No Recognition

It can be assumed China will test when it's ready. These reasons make any hope of getting China not to test look fragile. But there are more, in the total wretchedness of relations between this country and Red China.

The Chinese Communists have not only said they would not be bound by any treaty they did not negotiate, but they said that they won't negotiate a test ban treaty with the United States unless this country recognizes them as the legitimate government of China. This would mean recognizing their right to Formosa. This the United States refuses.

And, since it's backing Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa, it could hardly sell him out to get Red China to talk about a test ban. Therefore, there's no reason to think Red China won't test even if this country and Russia agreed not to.

Would the United States in such a case be stuck with its no-test agreement? Not necessarily. Arthur H. Dean said earlier this year before he resigned as the top American negotiator in the test ban talks with Russia that in any treaty with Russia that country would insist on a provision to let it end the agreement if some other country began testing.

Russian Side
The Russians, on their side, would want such an understanding, too, because of the unpredictable American ally, France, which has already had some atomic explosions and wants to develop its own nuclear force.

President Kennedy last year told a news conference it "quite obviously wouldn't protect American security" if there was an American-Russian test ban agreement and some other nation began testing.

But he said: "We have a good deal of hurdles to overcome before we come to this particular question." He had been asked about Red China.

Last week Jacob D. Beam, an official with the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, said: "We are not able at this time to predict that either France or Communist China will sign a test ban treaty."

"Even if France and Communist China failed initially to adhere to a test ban treaty, we think a treaty concluded between the major nuclear powers would offer some advantage if it did nothing more than prevent or delay the 10 or a dozen other potential nuclear powers from acquiring nuclear weapon capability."

24 Hortonville Juniors Take Test

HORTONVILLE — Twenty-four juniors at Hortonville Union High School have taken the 1963 National Merit Scholarship qualifying test.

The qualifying test is the first step in the ninth annual competition for four-year merit scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corp.

Scholarship stipends are based on financial need. The minimum award is $100 and the maximum is $1,500. The average stipend awarded to freshman Merit Scholars in 1962 was $445. Each scholarship constitute a form of educational insurance, since the stipend may be increased at any time if the student's financial situation changes during the four-year term of the scholarship.

Supplementary grants are usually made to the colleges that the scholars attend.

Facts Behind Common Market Need Telling

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Sooner or later, the American people will probably get the whole story of how the "Common Market" affects them concretely and what the plan really means for the future of Europe.

But, up to now, various misinterpretations have been spread which have prevented many persons on this side of the Atlantic from getting a full understanding of the problem.

On Sunday night, for example, a television presentation to a nationwide audience gave millions of American listeners a mistaken impression of the significance of the "Common Market." The portrayal of the industrial progress being made currently was realistic and timely, but the principal thought conveyed was that the "Common Market" is deliberately designed to bring about a United States of Europe and that this development is just around the corner.

The idea stressed was that the people of six European countries—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—are ready now to give up their patriotic feelings about their homeland and merge themselves in some kind of single super-government, and that the people of Great Britain eventually will join also. While the "Common Market" has unquestionably increased already the prosperity of each member country, it is far from realistic to say that the several nations on the continent of Europe, speaking different languages and enjoying different cultural interests, are all of a sudden to become one nation.

The example cited in the television presentation was that of the development of the United States of America from the 13 colonies. But the difference is that in 1776 the people of all the colonies spoke the same language and, for the most part, had the same ethnic background.

It will be conceded by almost everyone who studies the subject that the "Common Market" concept is, from the business standpoint, a good one for its members. But, while some of its champions have argued for political union, there is nothing so likely to impede the economic advancement of Europe as an attempt to minimize, if not destroy, national pride and patriotism. Local politicians can readily make an inflammatory issue out of such an emotional subject.

Even with two nations as closely allied as Canada and the United States, a momentous proposal in 1911 to sign a reciprocal tariff agreement between the two countries was killed in the Canadian parliament because some one in high office here thoughtlessly mentioned a design for "annexation" of Canada by the United States.

What was surprising about the television commentary on Sunday night was its failure to point up what the impact of the "Common Market" is going to be on the Communist bloc in Europe. Nor was there any comment as to the chances of ever bringing about the independence of all the satellite countries if their peoples are to be offered, in effect, a choice between being ruled by a central government in Moscow or by a super-government or council in either London or Paris. Nothing could be more discouraging to the cause of self-determination.

Sound Approach
The "Common Market" is, of course, a basically sound approach for the settlement of tariff and other economic questions.

Criticism Outnumbers Plaudits On 62-Part Wisconsin Series

BY CHARLES HOUSE

This department has come to the end of a long, 62-part series of articles which required at least many visits to cities and villages in Wisconsin, and which, if printed in book form, would fill two book-length novels.

The 62-week series, done in concert with Artist Bill Juhre, attempted (and sometimes failed) to catch both the story and the spirit of each city visited. But in the search for them, we learned much and had some experiences we share with you today.

One of the amusing things grew out of our visit to Brussels, in Door County. When Juhre and I discussed possible sketches he would make to make the article more informative, we conceived the plan of including the coat of arms of Bruxelles.

Both of us researched manfully, but the coat of arms simply could not be found. I can no longer remember how many hours I spent in the search, but they were many. But it was to no avail.

Success at Last
Suddenly, however, I recalled that I had bought a Bavarian hat during a trip to Europe, and that I had affixed to it the coat of arms of each city I visited—a Bavarian costume. I took the hat off my head, and behold—there was the Bruxelles coat of arms. And that is how we found it and gave it to Wisconsin's Brussels.

Both the artist and I hoped that we captured some elements which might have been lost had we not talked many times to old folks who remembered well.

In Hilbert, of Calumet County, for example, we spent several hours with an old timer whose recollections went back almost to the birth of the community and we learned many things from him. But, alas, the old fellow died before the story was in print. He was not to see his important contributions.

Juhre and I worked manfully to be accurate, and our diligence often required more time than seemed prudent. We eschewed hearsay and conjecture and sought facts because we knew that a jeremiad story would be hurtful both to our readers and to the integrity of this newspaper to say nothing of our own.

One example of a search for an elusive fact occurred after a visit to Green Valley, Oconto County. We had been told that a portion of a motion picture ("Thunder") had been made in the community, and we sought to pin down the date exactly. All sources informed us that it had been made in 1923. Lon Chaney and Phyllis Haver were the stars.

A check was disappointing. Biographies of these people were unimpressive. So were various books and histories on the motion picture industries. So were long memories of people we knew and trust. The search required at least four hours to determine that the movie was made in 1929—not 1923.

Evaluating Series
We have to be grateful to our editors for permitting such expenditures of time on an obscure movie for a seemingly unimportant fact—but it was reasonably important to the community itself.

It is difficult for me to assess the value of the series. I am sure that Juhre's sketches will have a lasting value and I am sure that I researched and wrote to the best of my ability which I agree was sometimes not good enough.

One method of evaluation is, of course, the request for the articles and for back issues. Dozens of libraries in Wisconsin have added the series to their files, and thousands of people have tucked the series away. Many persons are still attempting to collect the series into a whole although it is probably not possible at this date.

Another method of estimating the value of the series is mail. But strangely (at least I think it strange), the number of complimentary letters are heavily outweighed by those of criticism, by a ratio of about six to one.

The majority of the critical letters were something like this: "My uncle had a grocery store in . . . for 23 years and you never mentioned him!"

The truth of the matter was that I could not write of every person who had ever lived in the communities for even whole lifetimes, and I made no effort to do so. Space would not permit.

Blame the Innocent
In Abrams, for example, some local people I talked to were—and perhaps are—being punished because of what I had written. This seems very wrong to me because I know they are blameless and they are manfully taking the rap for what I wrote. This is a great injustice because, if there is blame due to anyone—and I think there is not—the blame is mine and mine alone.

Thus, it is not easy to evaluate the series unless I am very wrong and truly deserve a six to one ratio of blame vs. plaudits.

If I were permitted to gauge it with my own senses and observations I would be able to say that I did my best, and Juhre did his work superbly. And we were both enriched by the people we met and the friends many of them have become.

As Juhre said, and as I believe, none persons got belabored for my deeds, my writing.

Moravian Churches Planning Concert by College Choir

FREEDOM — A committee of 10 representing three local and area churches met at the East Moravian Church, Green Bay, recently to arrange for a concert by the Moravian College Choir, Bethlehem, Pa., April 6.

The 60 voice choir, under the direction of Prof. Richard Schantz, head of the college music department, will be on a spring concert tour of the Midwest.

The choir will present a program at East Moravian Church, Allouez Avenue and Libal Street, Green Bay, at 8 p.m. April 6. The concert is being sponsored by the East Moravian and West Moravian Churches, Green Bay, and the Freedom Moravian Church. The committees include hospitality, Mrs. Ernest Anderson, west side, Mrs. Walter Trow, Freedom, and Mr. Harold K. Johanknecht Paces Comet Cage Scoring

Made 275 Points In 73 Quarters of Action, Says Coach

WAUPACA—Gary Johanknecht, a junior, paced the Waupaca High School basketball team in scoring and rebounding during the recently completed season. Coach Al Schlatter told the Downtown Coaches club Monday noon. Johanknecht scored 275 points in 73 quarters of action for an average of 15.1 per game. He also led the rebounding by giving the Comets possession of loose balls 240 times. Runner-up in the rebound department was Brian Erickson, a sophomore, with 210. Bill Spiegler, a senior, was the second high point maker with 247. Coach Schlatter told the club the Comets played a 50 per cent season with eight wins and eight losses in Central Wisconsin action, and 10 wins and 10 losses in the over-all season. The team scored 40 per cent of its basket attempts and 55 per cent of the free throws.

Score 1,006 Points The cage mentor said Waupaca scored 1,006 points during the season for a 53 point average. The opposition scored 1,015 points. The biggest loss of the season was by nine points, excluding the Kimberly tournament game. Coach Schlatter said he felt the young Waupaca players did a fine job throughout the season.

Honor Society Induction Set

WEYAUWEGA — Nine Union High School seniors and juniors will be inducted into the National Honor Society tonight in the high school library.

To be eligible, students must maintain a 3.3 average. Candidates also are selected on the basis of character, leadership and service to the school.

New members are Lora Schmidt, senior; Patricia Buchholz, Glenn Klepp, Karen Trader, Sharon McClelland, Patricia Zick, Judy Dittman, Jerry Phillips and Madelon Utecht, juniors.

"Attendance," he said, "has been the largest in the last 10 years, so apparently the fans enjoyed it."

Coach Schlatter said six players earned letters during the season. They are Spiegler, Johanknecht, Erickson, Glenn Pasvogel, a senior; Oscar Reyes, a junior, and Dave Peterson, a sophomore.

Other Players Other players and the number of points scored during the season up to the Kimberly game are: Pasvogel, 55; Reyes, 90; Tom Halverson, 13; Roger Green, four; Erickson, 137; Peterson, 108; Douglas Kolb, 24; Bill Braatz, eight; Charles Dahlke, 37; James Strebe, nine, and Jack Martin, one.

Erickson, Peterson, Kolb, Braatz, Dahlke, Strebe and Martin are sophomores. Halverson, Reyes, Green and Johanknecht are juniors. Spiegler and Pasvogel are the only seniors.

Pasvogel was the high point scorer on free throws with 62. Johanknecht was the high point maker on free throws with 58. He had a season's record of 60 per cent. Spiegler scored 44 and Erickson rimmed 32.

Finalists Compete Tonight In Manawa Speech Contest

WAUPACA — Three finalists in three divisions will compete tonight in the speech division of the annual Waupaca County drama and public speaking contest at Manawa High School.

The nine speech contestants were named during an elimination contest at Manawa High School. Competing in the junior division are Donna Eisentraut, Waupaca, Dorothy Brewer, Clintonville, and Lee Sebstead, Fremont, intermediate division, Beth Neuschaefer, Fremont, and Charles Bale and LaVonne Krueger, Clintonville, and in the senior division, Sandra Arndt, Clintonville, Phillip Everts, Northport, and Mary Krause, Weyauwega.

Judges Named Herbert Tauchen, soil conservationist, will judge the speakers. Drama judges are Mrs. Melda Mortenson, Manawa, and Mrs. Rosalie Wright, Waupaca.

The one act plays scheduled to be presented are "Blue Beads" by Peterson Mill Club, "It's The Doctor" by "Pica Go-Getters."

"Wilber Takes His Medicine" by Willing Workers, "A Ghost from Outer Space" by Busy Badgers and "Home-Work" by the Casey Lake Club.

E. G. Hoyer, county 4-H agent, said the winner in each division of the speech contest will receive a scholarship to the 4-H summer camp. The winner of the senior division also will compete in the district contest March 22 at Westfield.

Guernsey Breeders Set Meeting

George Chambers, American Guernsey Cattle Club fieldman, will be among speakers at the annual meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday of the Fox Valley Guernsey Breeders' Association at Seymour State Bank.

Other speakers will be John Lindsey, secretary of the Wisconsin association, and John E. Powers, Outagamie County agricultural agent.

Reports will be given on the Tri-County Guernsey Parish Show, Guernsey Twilight Meeting and youth trip awards.

Directors will be elected and 1963 programs planned. Trophies will be presented to the breeder owning the high butterfat producing cow and the high milk producing cow in the last complete lactation.

Waupaca Hospital Has Three New Employees

WAUPACA — Three new employees have been added at the Waupaca Memorial Hospital, according to Roger Metz, office manager. Miss Nancy Selmer, Iola, is a new registered nurse and Mrs. Kenneth Much, 211 E. Union St. and Miss Tamara Solem, Iola, are receptionists.

Curlers Lose State Crown

Poynette Defeats Waupaca in Last Game of Tourney

WAUPACA—The Waupaca High School curling team reached the finals in the Wisconsin tournament but lost a 12-8 decision to Poynette to claim the runner-up position.

Waupaca won the state title last year. Poynette, another all-senior rink, was runner-up. The Poynette team downed Waupaca in a 10-end playoff game.

The Comets topped Poynette, 8-5, in the first game of the round robin tournament. Eau Claire defeated Madison West, 8-7, in an extra end game.

In the second game, Poynette downed Green Bay West, 8-7, and Waupaca trimmed Eau Claire, 7-2. In the final round of the tournament, Poynette won 8-3 from Eau Claire and Waupaca lost to Madison, 6-1, to bring on the Waupaca-Poynette tie.

The Waupaca rink, coached by LeRoy Haberkorn, consisted of Dennis Girard, Ted Johnson, Kent Taylor, and John Kneuppel.

Opposition Slated For 2 on Ballot

CLINTONVILLE — Town of Bear Creek officers were nominated for re-election at a caucus Saturday with two of the incumbents having opposition in the April 2 election.

Incumbents nominated with no opposition are Henry Kerklow, chairman, Orin Stevenson, clerk, Walter Goltz, first supervisor, and Harvey Polzin, second supervisor.

For treasurer, incumbent Eloise (Mrs. Ed) Raschke and Paul Flanagan were nominated, and for assessor, incumbent William Knitt and Ervin Schroeder were nominated.

Earl Schoenheide was nominated for constable, a position now held by Schroeder.

Union High Board Opens Bids for Bus

Contracts Approved For 16 Teachers; One More Needed

WEYAUWEGA — Bids for a new bus were opened at Monday night's meeting of the Union High School board of education, but awarding of the contract was delayed until bids for an elementary school bus have been opened on March 11.

The board interviewed local dealers plus representatives of bus body companies. They also inspected three buses that were brought to the school by the companies.

The board also discussed teachers' contracts and authorized Superintendent H. James Ramsdall to award contracts to 16 faculty members. At the present time the school has 16 teachers but Ramsdall said one more teacher will be added to the faculty next year.

Ramsdall reported to the board on the proceedings of a recent meeting of the Waupaca County School committee in which a dispute between the Weyauwega and Manawa school districts arose over 480 acres of property on the boundary lines of the two districts. The property in question is the remaining portion of the Royalton School district. It is attached to the Weyauwega district for high school purposes but is not attached to any district for elementary purposes. The Weyauwega board consented to meet with the Manawa board in an effort to try to settle the property dispute.

Before adjourning a board member suggested that the school-owned house which is occupied by the superintendent be better insulated in an effort to cut the fuel bill which is paid by the superintendent.

MYF Host for Church Groups

WAUPACA — The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist church was host Sunday to MYF members from New London, Manawa, Pafreyville and Stevens Point at a skating party at Waupaca armory.

About 56 high school age boys and girls took part in the party and returned to the church for devotions and a movie on Oklahoma.

Meeting Postponed

WAUPACA — A meeting of the city council scheduled tonight has been postponed until Wednesday night because of the election and the Texas Cow Girls basketball game scheduled tonight at the Waupaca Armory.

Smith, Mrs. James Beckland, and Mrs. Kenneth Waid, Waupaca; and members of the executive committee, Mrs. Marlin Boyer, Clintonville, Mrs. Officio, Mrs. Lee Wait, Clintonville, center chairman, Mrs. Russell Smith, Waupaca, vice president, Mrs. Clifford Thorn, New London, treasurer, Mrs. Wallace Wendt, New London center chairman, and Mrs. Merle Plowman, Waupaca center chairman, are attending.

The Waupaca delegation will present "What's It All About," a skit covering organization of a club. Mrs. Priscilla Hargraves, Madison, district supervisor will discuss "Our Role Is Leadership." Homemakers and county agents will present "How Well Did I Think."

Prisoner Will be Freed After Nearly 60 Years in Jail

BIVORG, Sweden (AP)—Mozart Lindberg Hansen is getting freedom at 82 after spending most of the last 60 years in prison—first as a petty thief and swindler, then as a kidnaper.

A district judge ordered Hansen's release on probation. The kidnapping of a priest in 1938 was the apparently pointless highlight of Hansen's criminal career. He abducted the priest in a wooden box on a truck, but released him unharmed the next day. He never quite explained his motive.

Ocean Tinted Green For St. Patrick's Day

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP)—The waters of the Atlantic Ocean off this resort city will turn a brilliant luminous green on St. Patrick's Day, a recurring phenomenon since 1960.

There's nothing supernatural about it, though. The city fathers observe the annual Irish celebration, March 17, by dropping a chemical dye into the ocean that tints the waters to the favorite shade of the Emerald Isle.

Perhaps the most magical element in the ceremony is the dye. Bright green after it hits the water, the chemical is an equally bright orange in its dry state.

New London Police Report 2 Burglaries

NEW LONDON — City police handled three criminal complaints, one a burglary and two larceny during February. None were cleared.

Fifteen accidents were investigated. Five had damages of more than $100 and one injury. Nine accidents were less than $100 in damages.

The department made 10 arrests during the month, three for illegal "U" turns and one each for speeding, ignoring stop sign, drunkenness, failure to yield right of way, too fast for conditions, allowing dog to run at large and unregistered vehicles.

Complaints registered by the department numbered 59 with nine of them dog complaints, three requests from the public and 47 miscellaneous.

Miscellaneous services performed by the department included seven blood runs, four funeral escorts, one miscellaneous escort, 106 services rendered to the public, 13 other police departments assisted, six doors and windows found unlocked, 14 burned out street lights discovered, seven stray dogs picked up, seven juveniles handled by the department, two juveniles referred to the welfare department and nine five-day tickets issued.

Study Club to See Slides of Trip

NEW LONDON — Slides of their European trip will be shown by Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Charlesworth at the Catholic Women's Study Club at 7:15 p.m. today in the club rooms of the Most Precious Blood school. A social will follow.

Study Club

CLINTONVILLE—The St. Rose Study Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Gordon Rindt, 128 Willow St.

Waupaca Will Make Survey Before Hospital Drive Opens

Chicago Firm to Handle Sampling Program Beginning March 20

WAUPACA — The Waupaca Memorial Hospital area will be sampled in the near future to determine the feasibility of conducting a fund drive for the proposed $5,000 addition to the hospital. The board of trustees in February voted to have the American Bureau Fund Raising Council, Chicago, sample the area. Edgar Lyons will represent the hospital in the survey. Results will be used to determine if the board will attempt a fund raising drive to offset the costs of the addition. Sampling will start about March 20.

Truck Driver Escapes Injury

Wrecker Hits Tree, Starts to Burn Near Waupaca

WAUPACA — Glenn Pilgrim, 40, escaped injury about 7 p.m. Monday when the heavy wrecker he was driving crashed into a tree at Gard's Corners, west of Waupaca, tipped over and caught fire.

Pilgrim, a mechanic with Mo-Brothers Trucking, Wausau, he climbed out of the right side of the wrecker lay on its side. He said he was out of the wrecker before it caught fire. County police said Pilgrim was driving south at Gard's Corners, the intersection of U.S. 10, State 54, State 22. They said Pilgrim claimed nothing was the matter with steering and he ran head-on into the tree. He was towing a tractor from a semi-truck. The tractor smashed into the rear of the wrecker but incurred only minor damage. The wrecker was a total loss.

Put Out Fire
Waupaca firemen were called out to the fire, which burned the interior of the cab of the wrecker.

The county highway department's wrecker was used to lift vehicles out of the ditch. Pilgrim was driving south on U.S. 10. His truck crossed the intersection and struck the tree on the east side of State 22, across the road from Gard's Corners.

Pilgrim said he was towing the tractor to Waupaca where it was to replace another tractor on a job. The tractor was a truck, which had broken down.

Justice Court Starts Cases

WAUPACA — State, county and city police brought $2,378 worth of business into the court of Municipal Justice George Whalen on February 28.

Municipal Justice Whalen turned over $1,392 to the county treasurer for state and county arrests, in fines to the city of Waupaca and $117 to Manawa.

Justice fees, which are turned over to the city clerk, included $322 for state and county arrests, from the sheriff's department, from city police arrests and from Manawa arrests. Sheriff's department fees totaled $16.

117 Violating Drainage Law At New London

Notices Will be Sent to Property Owners in City

NEW LONDON — Notices will be sent to about 117 city property owners who are violating an ordinance by allowing their roof drains to run into sanitary sewers.

Alvin Schafer, superintendent of the sewage treatment plant, told council members at Monday night's committee meeting that he has had two men checking city downspouts. Among 117 buildings found violating the ordinance, passed in 1954, were some city-owned buildings. There also were several business establishments in violation.

Council members expressed the opinion that notices should be sent to the property owners who have been in default, including the city. According to ordinance the property owners will be given 14 days to correct the situation.

If it is not corrected in this time the city has the right to send men to tear the spouts off and charge the amount to the property owner or the property owner is subject to a fine of $100 per day while in violation after the 14 days.

May Cause Problems

Schafer said that the amount of excess water going into the sanitary sewers from the downspouts could be causing some of the problems at the sewage treatment plant.

The police and fire commission want the council to set a limit on the number of beer licenses issued in the city. At the present time there are only two beer licenses within the city limits.

Arthur Gesse, superintendent of the street department, said he had contacted the Chicago and Northwestern Railway about the weight limit on the overhead bridge on High Street. He said he was told a weight limit of five tons should be set. He said he is having the signs made.

The finance committee said they tentatively hired an assistant to the city clerk on a trial basis.

Walter Schoenrock, building inspector, told the council there were several apartment buildings in the city that had more than three apartments. He said if there are more than three apartments in one home, they are governed by the industrial commission. The council authorized Schoenrock to check the buildings to see if they meet specifications.

Pay Half

Postponed taxes on real estate amounted to $28,432. Mrs. Schmidt-Kofoer said. In the case of postponed taxes, applicable to real estate only, property owners may elect to pay one-half or more of their total tax bill during January.

The balance may then be paid anytime before Aug. 1 without penalty. Payments of postponed taxes are made directly to the county treasurer, Merlin Zahn.

In addition to tax revenues, the city will receive a $43,641 in sales tax rebates from the state. The payments are applied to the tax rolls with $19,070 designated to augment the personal property tax revenues and $24,571 in a real estate tax rebate.

Chilton Collects $235,725 Taxes

$5,361 Delinquent According to City Treasurer's Report

CHILTON — A total of $235,725 in real estate and personal property taxes, special assessments and dog license fees were collected by Chilton Treasurer Mrs. Merlin Schmidt-Kofoer before the Feb. 28 payment deadline.

Included in the total was $205,282 real estate taxes, $29,745 personal property taxes, $561 special assessments, and $137 for dog licenses.

Delinquencies in all tax categories totaled $5,361. Of that amount, $4,582 was delinquent in real estate tax and special assessments with $709 owing in personal property taxes.

Postponed taxes on real estate amounted to $28,432. Mrs. Schmidt-Kofoer said. In the case of postponed taxes, applicable to real estate only, property owners may elect to pay one-half or more of their total tax bill during January.

Primary Vote Won't Alter Council Meeting

CHILTON — Because of the light vote anticipated in today's judicial primary election, the Chilton City Council meeting will be held as usual. Arthur Pohland, city clerk, announced.

Normally council meetings are delayed until the following Wednesday in the event of an election, but the ballots should be counted by 6:30 p.m. today, Pohland said. The council meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

Village Seeks Advice On Sewerage Order

Over 89 Tons of Food Distributed

10,470 People in Six-County Area Received Government Surpluses

NEW LONDON — Over 89 tons of surplus government food was distributed to needy families in a six county area during February, according to Ted Thomas, operator of United Counties Distributors.

The counties which are served are Waupaca, Shawano, Waushara, Winnebago, Portage and Fond du Lac. A total of 10,470 people were served in these counties during the month, he said. A breakdown of the amount of food distributed and the number of people in each county that received the food shows that in Shawano County, 1,670 people received 27,530 pounds of food; Waupaca County, 1,683 people received 27,056 pounds; Waushara County, 743 people received 12,627 pounds; Winnebago County, 1,973 people received 34,143 pounds; Portage County, 2,149 people received 35,145 pounds. In Fond du Lac County surplus food distribution was started in February and 2,262 people received 41,536 pounds of food.

The March schedule for deliveries in Waupaca County has been released. Monday food was distributed in New London. Today the surplus food was distributed in Northport, Royalton, Manawa and Weyauwega.

Wednesday food will be distributed in Ogdensburg from 8:30 to 11 a.m., in Scandinavia from 11:15 till noon and in Iola from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. Thursday people can pick up their food in Clintonville from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and in Marion from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. In Big Falls the hours will be from 3 to 3:30 p.m. Schedules for the other counties have already been announced.

Three Drivers Plead Innocent to Tipsy Driving Charges

Three drivers pleaded innocent of driving while intoxicated and will face trials in March and June. They were freed after payment of $250 bonds.

Appearing in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2 were Raymond E. Sommers, 26, route 1, Hortonville, Luther K. Volz, 53, of New London, and Luc L. Tate, 51, 782 Reed St., Neenah. Trial for Sommers is June 6, for Volz June 5 and for Tate March 20.

All three were arrested by State Police on State 45 Sunday.

Stockbridge Residents Jam Board Meeting; Outbursts Widen Rural, Urban Rift

BY DON KAMPPER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

STOCKBRIDGE — The village board, after a heated session with residents Monday night over a state order to install sewage treatment facilities, will secure legal advice to determine its rights in the matter.

Heated outbursts during the meeting produced little more than ill will and personal rifts. When the smoke cleared, the only official action taken was to secure legal advice.

The board wants to know what its rights are; if it can be forced to install the costly public works project against its will; if the project can be forced into a corporate area despite statutory limitations on bonded indebtedness, and just what steps must be taken if the state order is binding.

A record turnout of Stockbridge residents jammed the village hall to become officially acquainted with the state order they had been hearing and reading so much about. The order, issued by the state committee on water pollution, stipulated the village submit a complete set of plans for a municipal sewage collection system and treatment plant to the state board of health by May 1.

More important, however, was the portion of the order which stipulated that the system be installed before Aug. 1, 1964.

No Resistance
There was no expressed intent on the part of any board member to resist the order, nor was there any indication of compliance to it. The discord was limited to the audience. Spectators, whose occupations ranged from farmer to storekeeper, spewed statute numbers which they believed would either enforce the state order or provide an escape loop-hole, depending on their allegiance.

Professional legal counsel was conspicuous by its absence.

The leading spokesman for the group opposing municipal sewerage was Jesse Poppy. Poppy, who has been waging a personal duel on the issue with Oscar Egger, public health engineer for the State Board of Health, maintained statutes protect the village from the state order by establishing a limit on bonded indebtedness. As applied to Stockbridge, the limit on bonded indebtedness is 5 per cent of the village's equalized valuation. This would produce about $75,000, Poppy maintained, far short of the bonding needed to carry out the public works project. The engineer's estimate was more than $189,000.

Poppy claims Egger overstepped the bounds of his duties when Egger circulated a letter urging a "yes" vote at a recent referendum on the issue. Poppy published demands for a retraction but instead got another even more emphatic letter from Egger, which was circulated throughout the village.

Original Plan
The original plan, which was defeated by a narrow margin in a November referendum vote, called for work to be financed not by the general obligations of the users and benefiting property owners paying for the project's construction and operation.

Several other farmers took issue with the order's promise of alleged waste pollution. The order charges existing individual sewage treatment systems are polluting the waters of nearby Lake Winnebago by discharging wastes into tributaries leading to the lake. The farmer-opponents claimed the stream flowing through the village never reaches the lake. They said it stopped dead on the Marvin Gerhart farm.

Hubert Leleber charged Chamber of Commerce president Emil Kufahl with instigating the state's action. Kufahl demanded to know the reasoning behind the allegation but was told only that "this state business only started since you (Kufahl) moved here."

Threatened Action
Alfred Schumacher, dean of the local civic leaders, corrected Leleber pointing out the state has been threatening its recent action since 1948, long before Kufahl moved to the community.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Stockholders Enterprises, Inc., a community development group headed by Jake Heimbach, have long been proponents of the utility claiming it will spur the village's residential and economic development.

Several other arguments flared among members of the audience, several of which had little if any bearing on the issue at hand. They served only to broaden the rift which separates the population elements of the village.

Warden Wins Citation in Conservation

Three state residents were among the winners of 20 American Motors 1962 conservation awards.

Winning a plaque and $500 was Herbert Vander Bloemen, Manitowoc, a state conservation warden. Vander Bloemen's son, Albert, is an Outagamie County conservation warden.

Another son, Richard, a junior at Lawrence College Conservatory of Music, sang the tenor lead in the opera "Gianni Schicchi."

Other winners include Dr. Ruth L. Hine, Madison, and Oscar Lanier, Rock Springs. Both were awarded plaques. Dr. Hine also was awarded $500.

Vander Bloemen spearheaded a drive to acquire the Collins marsh land as an addition to state wetlands and helped raise $60,000 for a lodge in Rahr Memorial School Forest.

In Disrepair
Appleton police and city sanitarians Monday began a search for the heir to an Appleton home, which has fallen into disrepair and has been called a public menace.

Police said the whereabouts of Hubert Wettengel, about 40, whose home is at 605 N. Oneida St., is unknown. His home was viewed by police, firemen, sanitarians and other city officials over the weekend after a patrolman investigated a possible break-in there.

Found in the home were papers, junk, decayed food, magazines piled two feet high, unflushed toilets, broken glass and other debris. Wettengel had not been in the home for several weeks, police estimated, and neighbors said the man had said he was going to the World's Fair last year and has not been seen since.

Sole Heir
The home was left to Wettengel by his father, Alfred, as part of a $200,000 estate in 1959. The son was the sole heir.

Home Padlocked
Mayor Clarence Mitchell called police and firemen, city sanitarians and the city attorney to his home office at 11 a.m. today to discuss the situation. The home was padlocked by police Sunday afternoon after firemen and policemen equipped with cameras, took 18 photographs of the interior.

Mitchell asked police Chief mail for Wettengel.

Russian Missiles in Red China. Puzzle U. S. Intelligence Experts

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN
AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — That highly-publicized but questionable split between Moscow and Peiping hasn't stopped Soviet Premier Khrushchev from sending a thousand ground-to-air missiles to Communist China.

This secret Russian help in building up Red China's air defenses was uncovered by U. S. reconnaissance satellites and surveillance planes flying over strategic areas of China in recent missions.

Twenty-one separate SA-2, ground-to-air missile sites similar to those that the Soviets are now operating in Cuba, have been photographed so far by high-flying U-2 planes and Samos satellites.

At each of these SAM sites, the reconnaissance cameras spotted anywhere from 40 to 60 missiles and their telltale launchers.

U-2 Plane Shot Down

This alarming missile discovery was the direct result of a systematic surveillance program launched last September by the Air Force after a Formosa-based U-2 plane was shot down by the Chinese Communists while flying over the mainland.

This unexpected show of power by the Chinese Communists, which brought to an end the hit-and-miss U-2 surveillance flights over the mainland, convinced U. S. intelligence officials that Khrushchev had turned his first SA-2 missiles over to Mao.

This suspicion was fully confirmed a week later when a specially launched Samos satellite, passing over the same area, took the first photos of one of these SAM bases in China.

Since this Samos mission rocked the U. S. intelligence community, another 20 sites have been located scattered along China's vast Eastern seacoast and near the largest and most important inland military bases. Also, the U. S. learned from other sources that these missile sites were constructed by Soviet military technicians.

Taking Another Look

This latter discovery along with the missile findings has touched off a sharp debate among the President's chief advisers over the accuracy of government policy estimates of the Sino-Soviet dispute.

visers over the accuracy of government policy estimates of the Sino-Soviet dispute.

One group, headed by Director

John McCone, of the Central Intelligence Agency, is using the new intelligence to challenge the State Department's policy assessment that there is a deep split between China and Russia.

While recognizing the existence of ideological differences between Khrushchev and Mao, the McCone group argues that the Soviet missile assistance clearly indicates that the two Communist leaders are working closely together in building a military machine to oppose the U. S.

The other group, headed by Dr. Walt Rostow, chairman of the State Department Planning Commission, contends that "the antagonisms between Moscow and Peiping are so deep-seated that we cannot foresee any genuine reconciliation of the dispute, at least while Mao and Khrushchev hold power."

President Undecided

They contend that the Soviet missile help to China is inconclusive and that the delivery of MIG-21 interceptors (only six) to India by the Kremlin is counterproof that there is a deep split.

President Kennedy is reportedly undecided which of the two clashing views to follow in his policy making, although in the past he has leaned toward the Rostow group, which includes McGeorge Bundy, his special foreign policy adviser in the White House.

Within 600 miles of where the Soviet Union tests its atomic bombs in Siberia, the Chinese Communists may have touched off their first nuclear explosion on the "roof of the world."

This suspected atomic test, reported out of India early in February but not confirmed, may have taken place in early January at the same time the Russians were winding up their latest series of nuclear explosions.

Japanese Report

Reliable Japanese sources with contacts on the China mainland reported to U. S. intelligence in Tokyo last month that the Chinese Reds detonated a very low grade nuclear device in the northwest corner of Chang Tang province on the great Plateau of Tibet.

According to this Japanese report, one of their Chinese contacts actually witnessed the explosion, including the formation of the mushroom cloud. Previous information from China furnished by this source has checked out to be very accurate.

The Atomic Energy Commission is now making a world-wide inquiry to determine if the explosion, which was not recorded in the U. S., was registered as an earthquake by any other country. Since the Russians set off a large nuclear explosion in nearby Siberia on the same day, U. S. officials admit that radioactive material from the Chinese test, if it occurred, could have become mixed with those fallout samplings and gone undetected.

One theory for the Chinese Communist silence is that if they did explode a low-grade nuclear device they would keep that quiet until the first full-scale bomb is tested — an event Peiping is expected to announce to the entire world.

South Milwaukee Man New Building Inspector

Appleton Council Still Must Okay Appointment of Charles Magnette

Charles A. Magnette, 36, South Milwaukee, today was appointed City of Appleton building inspector.

Magnette, who has had several years of carpentry experience, was the second-ranked candidate in written and oral examinations conducted by the State Bureau of Personnel.

The appointment was made today by Mayor Clarence Mitchell after he telephoned Magnette Monday night to confirm formal acceptance of the job, which will pay $537 a month, plus a car allowance to be determined.

Magnette's appointment will be submitted to the council Wednesday night for confirmation. He is scheduled to start his new duties March 16.

Originally, 76 applicants from all parts of Wisconsin and some adjoining states, expressed interest in the position, which became vacant with the retirement of Walter Bogan Feb. 1. Bogan held the building inspector's post for 16 years. Prior to that the inspector was John Pierre, present city assessor.

The three top candidates, as result of the examinations, were from the Milwaukee and Madison areas and the other five from Appleton. The Milwaukeean, who was at the top of the list, recently wrote Mitchell he no longer was interested.

Magnette and his wife are natives of Sister Bay and Sturgeon Bay, respectively. They have two children. The family residence presently is at 700 Columbia Ave., South Milwaukee.

The new building inspector applied for the job Dec. 26, and listed the carpenter contracting firms he has worked for in the construction of houses and apartment buildings. Magnette is a member of Carpenters Local 1114, Milwaukee district council.

In making the appointment, Mitchell said he was satisfied "the city is getting the top man available for the job". After the three highest ranking scores, compiled by the bureau of personnel, there was a sharp dip in the ratings of the other candidates.

The written exams were conducted in various parts of the state, and the eight highest ranked ing aspirants for the job then were interviewed by a special board comprised of bureau representatives and two local residents.

Pierre has been acting-building inspector in addition to his assessor's duties for the past month. Appleton's first building inspector, John Weiland, was appointed in 1929.

Four Injured in Accidents on Outagamie Roads

Stephen Bergmann, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Bergmann, route 1, Hortonville, received minor injuries when he ran into a car near where he waited for a school bus Monday on County Trunk MM about 8 a.m.

County police said the youth ran into the side of a car being driven by Thomas Kelly, 17, route 2, Shiocton. The youth was examined by a doctor but was not hospitalized. Kelly's car went in a ditch after the accident, but he was not injured.

One person was hospitalized at Kaukauna Community Hospital early Monday morning after a two-car collision on U.S. 41 in the Town of Kaukauna. County police said Leo R. Hinshaw, 26, Pennville, Ind., received abrasions and bruises when his car, traveling north on 41, was involved with a car being driven south by Charles J. Baeri, 22, 516 E. Walnut St., Green Bay. Neither of Baeri's two passengers nor Baeri received injuries. The accident occurred about 5:50 a.m.

Two persons were injured but were not hospitalized when the car they were in early Sunday morning hit a power pole after striking a snowbank on State 96.

County Police said Clyde W. Geurden, 25, route 4, Appleton, driver of the car and his passenger, Barbara Guyette, 19, 1481 1/2 W. Wisconsin Ave., received cuts. The accident occurred about 3:50 a.m.

Draft Extended For 4 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to extend the draft for four years won unanimous approval of the House Armed Services Committee today.

The measure, approved after two days of hearings would continue the Selective Service Act until July 1, 1967.

Kaukauna Sets Forensics Date

133 Students in Festival Starting Wednesday Night

KAUKAUNA — Approximately 133 Kaukauna High School students will participate in the annual forensic festival starting at 6 p. m., Wednesday at the school.

Although invitations have been sent to parents of participating students, the affair is open to the public, according to Paul Kulas, instructor. Visitors may take in different speeches throughout the school, but are asked not to enter rooms while a student is speaking.

Competition Set

A local elimination contest will be held the next night with talks judged and graded. Forensic students are not required to enter competition, but all will participate in the festival.

Coaches include Mrs. Patrick Netzel, Donald Jensen and Mrs. Ethel Deloria, declamation; Mrs. John Van De Loo and Miss Lorraine Dudley, interpretive reading of prose; Bruce Warner and Miss Mary Louise Finne, interpretive reading of poetry; Joseph Vander Zanden, four-minute speaking; Dennis Kral, non-original oratory; Mrs. Kenneth Roloff, play reading; Francis DeBruin, original oratory and declamation, and extemporaneous speaking and public address, Paul Kulas.

24 Hortonville Juniors Take Test

HORTONVILLE — Twenty-four juniors at Hortonville Union High School have taken the 1963 National Merit Scholarship qualifying test.

The qualifying test is the first step in the ninth annual competition for four-year merit scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corp.

Scholarship stipends are based on financial need. The minimum award is $100 and the maximum is $1,500. The average stipend awarded to freshman Merit Scholars in 1962 was $845. Each scholarship constitute a form of educational insurance, since the stipend may be increased at any time if the student's financial situation changes during the four-year term of the scholarship.

Supplementary grants are usually made to the colleges that the scholars attend.

Girls Playing Near Woods Discover Two Missing Money Bags

Two leather bags found in the snow near a woods northwest of Appleton with lettering from the First National Bank of Appleton on the outside, have been turned over to Appleton police.

The bags were found by two girls, Diane, 10, and Lynn, 11, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Geer, 841 W. Broadway Ave. The girls' parents told the Outagamie County Sheriff's department the

Counties Want Higher Rural Road Standards

MADISON—Local road officials are demanding higher standards of design, construction and maintenance on rural roads.

The Wisconsin County Highway Committee Members Association has asked a legislative commission which is working on the revision of standards for rural road building has asked the group to endorse a rule providing for the construction of five feet of shoulder on each side of all future county trunk highways.

"Modern day traffic needs place increasing demands on counties to build safer highways," the resolution of the county officials said.

The same group has proposed to the state highway department that it require that all grass and weeds be cut to the property line

Examiner Told Elwin Welch Was Policeman

Hearing is Being Conducted to Decide
Payment Eligibility

Elwin Welch, a former Outagamie County patrolman who died in April, 1962 of injuries he received in a car accident while on duty, was told Monday.

Examiner R. P. Groh is to determine whether a highway patrolman is a policeman and therefore whether his beneficiaries are eligible for compensation payments on his death under a special state statute. After hearing testimony from fellow Outagamie County patrolmen and a Calumet County traffic patrolman, Groh requested that briefs be prepared on the case and submitted to him within 30 days. He reserved ruling in the case until after the briefs are read.

Outagamie County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath claimed that Welch, 57, is not eligible for compensation under State Statute 66.191, the special death or disability for certain public employees law, because the county patrolman job is not one of the specific occupations listed as being eligible for the benefits.

The patrolman's widow has sought compensation under the statute and has declined taking the regular workman's compensation payments. It was estimated by an insurance representative that Mrs. Welch would receive about $14,000 more under the special state statute if she received benefits for 20 years.

No Compensation
Mrs. Welch has not received any compensation since her husband died April 2. She has said she was living on social security payments and a small police association pension of $18 per month.

Ponath Monday said he did not intend to keep payments from Mrs. Welch but interpreted his duty as corporation counsel to examine the request of Mrs. Welch to receive payment under the special law and to determine the legality of such a payment.

Under the special statute for certain employees, Mrs. Welch would receive a payment of one-third her husband's monthly salary at the time of his death. The payments would be made each month until she remarries or dies. Welch was making $390 per month when he died.

Under compensation, Mrs. Welch would receive a settlement equal to four times the amount of an average annual salary. Those payments would be made on a monthly basis.

The issue is in the wording of the special statute which lists eligible special employees as "policemen, conservation wardens, deputy state fire marshals, state forest rangers, field employees of the conservation commission subject to call for forest fire control or warden duty, members of the state traffic patrol, state university fulltime guards or any employee whose duties are supervisory in state penal institutions, state hospitals or who are state tax beverage employees."

Marx Testifies
Outagamie County Under Sheriff Norbert Marx testified he had worked with Welch and said "I always believed Welch to be a police officer" and that he had observed Welch perform duties of a police officer. Marx was employed by the Appleton Police Department when he worked with Welch on cases.

Welch wore a badge with the wording "Outagamie County Police" inscribed on it. Welch's former supervisor Capt. Ronald Decker testified. The badge was issued to Welch and was the official badge of Outagamie County. Decker also said Welch carried a weapon and was a deputy sheriff. Welch's job included patrol car duties, regulating traffic, enforcing tavern regulations, and answering family complaints. Decker testified Welch, and other members of the patrol, have the power of arrest for felonies and misdemeanors.

Others who testified Monday included Calumet County Traffic Patrolman Irvin Vre, who said the term "policeman" was officially given to patrolmen in Calumet County. Also testifying was Outagamie County Traffic Sgt. Lowell Veitch.

No Pot-Bellied Prototypes

Wauwara County Barkeepers Start Half-Century Jaunt Into Oshkosh

BY STERLING SORENSON

In a test of physical fitness decided to show they aren't prototypes of pot-bellied saloonkeepers often pictured by caricaturists, a foursome of Wauwara County tavernmen early Monday set out on a half-century hike for Oshkosh.

This heel-and-toe Odyssey will take them from Wautoma — which they left just after sun-up Monday — to the Sawdust City, via Omro and Winneconne, and the shoreline of Lake Butte des Morts.

Had Rescue Dog
The hikers of Route 21 are due in Oshkosh late today. This depends on a number of factors and the unwonted exercise which may result in fall-outs. The route is close to 50 miles, standard mileage of those participating in the hiking vogue.

plan to cover the march in 24 hours, or less, of walking time.

Taking their cue from the well-known rescue dogs of the Hospice of St. Bernard in the Swiss Alps, the traveling barkeepers had their own rescue dog with them on a portion of the hike. Harassed about the canine's neck — in the best tradition of the St. Bernards — was a small cask of brandy. Jerry Honl, who operates Silver Lake, initiated the half-century walk, and enlisted the participation of the others. Last week, Honl made two "practice" hikes better to get in shape. They were separate circuits of Silver Lake, covering nine miles on each round.

Following Highway 21 from Wautoma to Red Granite the well-shod hikers reached the quarry city at 10.35 a.m., well ahead of schedule.

Omro was the overnight stopping place, according to the schedule, with an early start Tuesday to Winneconne and then on to Oshkosh.

Honl's Companions

With Honl as the trekkers made their smart-stepping way Monday were Wallace La More, of Silver Lake's Moose Inn; Larry Boquist of Red Granite's Buck's bar and Charles "Chuck" Williams of the Woodpile, a tavern outside of Wautoma.

Serving as a kind of watchful warder was Jack Barrett of Red Granite. In a car equipped with mattress, bandages and other first aid supplies, he followed the barkeepers.

They turned down a number of "hitch" offers of passing motorists and vowed to reach Oshkosh early this afternoon — leg muscles willing.

County Officials End Study for Joint Municipal Building

Committee Says Space Needs
In Appleton Not Immediate

Outagamie County officials are no longer giving any consideration to a joint city-county municipal building when future space needs are discussed.

Members of the county board's executive committee discussed space problems informally Monday, but ruled out any consideration of a joint building because of a report by Supv. Joseph Weyers (Town of Freedom).

Weyers, acting in his capacity as vice-chairman of the county board, attended last Monday night's meeting between city and county officials at the courthouse when a possible joint venture was discussed.

Since Appleton's office space needs aren't immediate, there is little if any chance for a joint building, he said. The five-man committee explored possible answers to the problem other than the proposed $1.25 million courthouse addition.

Huber Law Space
Supv. Alvin Fulcer (Kimberly) county board and executive committee chairman, said, "Our basic problem is finding medium security facilities for Huber Law prisoners. If we can work out this problem, we will have solved our present space problems."

The committee members felt a $1.2 million courthouse addition is not needed just to provide additional Huber Law space.

One possible answer to the problem came from Supv. Russell De La Hunt (Kaukauna 5th). De La Hunt said the county could purchase a house across one of the streets from the present building. The house could be used to provide for the welfare department, currently experiencing serious space problems, De La Hunt said.

He suggested the present welfare department offices or some other office in the building be converted into a Huber Law prisoner dormitory.

Shuffle Space
"What we could do," he said, "is to get one group out of the building and then shuffle the space around." The welfare department's present office, on the ground floor of the courthouse, is directly across a hall from the sheriff's and traffic police departments.

The committee also discussed the possibility of building Huber Law prisoner detention facilities elsewhere, but decided such a plan would be impractical since the prisoners still must share dining facilities with other jail prisoners.

Other ideas suggested and discussed were moving the county agriculture office, the soil conservation office and the Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) offices to new buildings either at the county hospital property or attached to the Fox Valley Extension Center of the University of Wisconsin.

Answered Critics
Fulcer answered criticism from some quarters about the county competing with private sources on leasing space in the courthouse annex to the federal government. "We're not beating the bushes for annex customers," he said. The federal government wanted to come into our building and "we didn't ask them," he said.

The county presently rents space in the annex to the Social Security department and to the local draft board.

"The statement being made that Outagamie County submitted a bid against private parties in order to keep the two units is completely false," Fulcer said, "and if they feel they could do better somewhere else, we wouldn't hold them to anything."

"If the government chooses to move, we could use the area."

Arrested Sunday
Mueller was arrested by Chilton Policeman Dan Albedyll with assistance from Calumet Patrolman Fred Martins. Testimony indicates Albedyll pursued Mueller briefly about 10 p.m. Sunday, with the chase ending when Mueller's car piled into a snow bank on Heimann Street.

A speeding summons was issued and Albedyll had the car towed from the snow bank. The moment the tow chain was unhooked, Mueller drove off at a high rate of speed. Albedyll gave chase and was forced to the shoulder when Mueller's car spun around at an intersection and came speeding back toward the pursuing police car.

Mueller failed to heed Martin's attempts to stop him, and he was finally captured by the two policemen on Washington Street. The drunken driving summons resulted from the second chase.

Schroeder was arrested by Outagamie County Police on U.S. 41 Friday night. He was taken to the county jail, where he tested .21 on the drunkometer.

Lyons, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was arrested Saturday by Menasha Police after he was involved in an accident at the Third and Racine street intersection in Menasha.

Weatherman Says Warmer on Wednesday, Cooler Weekend

A weather cell gained momentum and brought unanticipated low temperatures to the Fox Cities area this morning, but the weatherman said today that temperatures will be warmer tonight and Wednesday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau, Austin Straubel Field, Green Bay, said tonight's low will be 22 above and Wednesday's high should be 36. Colder weather is predicted again by Friday or Saturday.

The bureau said a high temperature system moving south from central Canada picked up speed and shifted westward, taking away warmer weather and snow predicted for Monday night.

The Fox Valley was on the edge of the system, according to the weather bureau. Milwaukee reported an overnight low of 28, and LaCrosse had an overnight minimum of 27. The Green Bay weather bureau recorded a 10 above low.

Appleton Readings
Appleton's cooperative observer, for the U.S. Weather Bureau, the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., said a high reading Monday of 35 and a low this morning of 11 above. The Appleton temperature at 9 a.m. was 18. The dew point was 7.

In Neenah, WNAW Radio's WeatherScope listed a high of 38 at 2:15 p.m. Monday and a low of 12 at 6 a.m. today. The station's reading at 9 a.m. today was 17.

The power company said frost depth in Appleton and the Twin Cities averages about 30 inches. At this time last month, the frost depth was estimated at 4 to 5 feet.

More Testing For Hebard

Second Psychiatrist
Interviews Boy Who Admitted Murders

GREEN BAY — Harry R. Hebard, 16, who has admitted shooting five members of his family to death in their home, 2636 Hazelwood Lane, Feb. 18, underwent a second psychiatric interview Monday afternoon.

Young Hebard was taken from his Brown County jail cell to the office of Dr. Edward E. Houfek in Sheboygan by Chief Deputy Bernard Baye and Deputy Milton Miller.

The young man underwent about 90 minutes of questioning and testing in the psychiatrist's office.

Written Reports
Hebard previously was interviewed last Thursday by Dr. Denton P. Engstrom in Appleton for an hour.

Written reports will be filed by the psychiatrists with Judge James W. Byers to determine whether Hebard is mentally competent to stand trial on first degree murder counts.

Hebard formally is charged in the deaths of his father, Jack, 37; his stepmother, Joyce, 35; and his twin stepdaughters, Judy and Janice, 11. A fifth murder charge involving the death of his stepbrother, John Rudell, 15, is being held in abeyance pending outcome of the case.

Moment of Truth Coming Soon

Later this week we may hear Governor Reynolds' program for raising the tax money his expensive budget requires, the details of which we have been awaiting over a period of many years. We say may advisedly because he has been promising to give it to the legislature for weeks and continually postponing it.

The Governor has been discussing the generalities of this tax program for at least five years, going back to his first campaign for attorney general. At the time it was difficult to see what the tax issues had to do with running for attorney general, but in perspective we now divine that Mr. Reynolds was in reality running for governor years before the opportunity presented itself for him to seek that position.

After all this conversation about taxes one would expect that we would know exactly what the Governor has in mind. Such, however, is far from the case. It would appear that as late as last week he wasn't sure himself since he called a meeting of Democratic leaders to send out some trial balloons on the subject.

In fact we suspect that the delay in presenting the program to the legislature has resulted from great difficulties experienced by the state tax director John Gronowski in expressing the governor's vague ideas in concrete and practical terms which will have even a remote chance of acceptance by his own party in the Legislature, let alone by the Republican majority.

Mr. Reynolds' theory on taxation can be expressed very simply. Since all taxes come basically from income, raising more tax revenue is simply a matter of raising the state's income tax.

But when Mr. Gronowski added up the amount of money needed and computed the income tax increase necessary to produce it he must have come up with a figure which would shock even Mr. Reynolds' most avid supporters. For the first time those supporters are going to hear a cold, hard calculation on the amount of new taxes each of them will have to pay.

Mr. Reynolds won election as governor by somehow convincing a slim majority of Wisconsin voters that someone else was going to pay these taxes. Now that myth is about to be exploded.

The plan leaked from last week's conference centered around a flat increase in personal income tax rates of three-quarters of one per cent. But with other conditions the Governor has talked about this probably will not produce the kind of money he needs. Thus the final figure may be a full one-per cent increase or he may even suggest reinstating the surtax.

Since Wisconsin income tax rates now run from 2 to 10 per cent, a one per cent boost represents a 50 per cent increase for taxpayers in the lowest bracket. Such an increase would mean that Wisconsin would have the highest personal income tax rate in the country.

Normally we would refrain in our editorial columns from commenting on a new governor's tax program until he had made it public. But the way Governor Reynolds has fumbled around with this matter all during his campaigning and since his election we can't resist commenting that we can hardly wait.

Father of Child at Northern Colony Disturbed Over Film

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I'm certain that many parents of "mentally retarded" children in our area read your editorial concerning Gov. Reynolds' film about Northern Colony with mixed emotions. As yet, I have not seen the film in question. If, however, the film pictures conditions at Northern Colony in the light indicated by your editorial, I will strongly protest its general distribution.

As a parent of a mentally handicapped son who is a patient at Northern Colony it is difficult for me to express opposition to almost any plea for improvement of Colony care. It would seem to me that the general distribution of the film you describe is grossly unfair to the parents of the children involved and equally unfair to the dedicated people working at the Colonies. When one visits a home for the mentally retarded for the first time the reaction in many cases is one of shock. This is especially true of persons who have had no previous exposure to the problems of caring for the mentally handicapped in a group situation.

In spite of the tremendous efforts of the Colony staff to provide the best possible care for their patients, they cannot begin to approach a level of care comparable to the care given a mentally retarded child at home by his devoted parents. It is unfortunate that most average persons use the above as a basis for comparison. Only when a person learns to see the Colony through the eyes of the patient rather than through his own eyes will he discover that there are many many happy children there.

Since the time my son became a patient at Northern Colony I have made many visits there. The care given him at the Colony in my opinion is excellent. This is not to say that there is no need for general improvement at the Colonies both North and South. The recent dysentery problem (now much improved) at Union Grove is proof enough of the need for improvement, especially in hospital facilities and dormitories. I do not believe the people of Wisconsin need to be shocked into caring for the mentally retarded. I prefer to believe that more favorable, and even more important, longer range benefits will be gained by presenting the immense problems of colony care in a fair and objective manner.

The splendid response of people in Outagamie County to the needs of our mentally retarded is evidenced by Plamann School. No shock treatment was needed to provide this fine facility for our children. I do not question Governor Reynolds' sincerity in his attempt to improve Colony conditions. One must believe that no person reaching the stature of state governor would knowingly play politics with those less fortunate than himself. However misguided Gov.

Reynolds' motives for releasing this film may be, I believe he was moved by genuine compassion to do so.

I certainly hope that Governor Reynolds will withdraw this questionable film from circulation, at least until the many parents involved have had a chance to see the film and pass judgment on it. I think I can speak for most parents of retarded children when I say that Gov. Reynolds could produce much better results by throwing the full importance of his office in support of the Dept. of Public Welfare budget requests that concern the colonies.

When Will 'Appleton Wall' on Front St. Fall?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The Appleton Post-Crescent of Feb. 26 stated, "City officials were at a loss for an explanation as to the sudden interest shown in (the barricading of) Front Street. The reason for this "sudden interest" is that the time is rapidly approaching when the barricade will be removed. Do the councilmen remember that after much criticism last fall they stated in the Post-Crescent that this was only a temporary experiment and that the barricade would be removed in six months?"

The erection of the "Appleton Wall" was one of the most sneaky things ever put over on the people of Appleton. The first thing we knew about it was when we saw it erected. Telephone calls to several aldermen at the time disclosed that they even knew nothing about it. It was finally explained that the City Traffic Engineer, Walter Rasmussen, had instigated it after recommendation by the State.

This "Wall" is an eyesore and a disgrace to the City. It seems to shout "I DARE YOU TO COME IN."

As far as traffic is concerned, the experts were publicizing the problem at Prospect and Memorial before the "Wall" was built. Since then, traffic has increased at that corner by the number of cars that used to go down Front Street. Rasmussen now says "There has been no traffic problem." Something doesn't jibe.

Closing of the street is in violation of the rules of the Fire Dept. regarding dead-end streets.

Why not close both ends of Front Street and make a park out of it? Build a few tennis courts, teeter-totters and slides. Maybe the residents would like that better.

There is a strong suspicion of favoritism shown here. That is why the "sudden interest."

We are all anxiously awaiting D (down) day.

The Legislature and Crime Reports

Under the circumstances, as they have developed during the last two months, the proposal for a special state senate inquiry into the possibility of organized criminal activity in Wisconsin is probably a plausible and defensible one. Attorney General George Thompson has reported that he favors the plan of Sen. Jerris Leonard of suburban Milwaukee to create such a vehicle for a bipartisan inquiry under authority of the legislature. Mr. Thompson has held office for two months, which is sufficient time to have permitted him to peruse the findings to date of the John Doe inquiry in Milwaukee County which is under the charge of his office. His backing of an investigation with a state-wide jurisdiction must therefore be accorded some respect.

There is also the fact that Gov. Reynolds, who came into his executive office from the office that Mr. Thompson now holds, has flatly and repeatedly declared his conviction and knowledge that there is a pattern of criminal activity in Wisconsin that transcends the county boundaries that are the limits of the jurisdiction of our local law enforcement and prosecution officials. As we have noted previously, Mr. Reynolds cannot afford to speak loosely on such matters, given his own background in the attorney general's office. We must treat what he says at face value.

Sen. Leonard, it is important to note here, is a responsible figure in Milwaukee County affairs. He has also categorically declared his belief that there is an element of criminal activity within the state that cannot be traced through the limited John Doe proceeding that has continued in Milwaukee for nearly 10 months and that even now is bringing in indictments that are inevitably shocking to Milwaukee residents accustomed to easy assumptions about civic virtue there.

On the basis of all these developments, suspicions and declarations, it is probably time to take steps to clear the air.

Sen. Leonard is drafting a bill for a select committee of the state senate to take charge of the inquiry. He has explained that it should consist of Democrats as well as Republicans, and especially men of legal backgrounds. It would work in close conjunction with the attorney general's office. We believe such a mechanism is justified. Let us demolish these suspicions and charges finally, or let us pursue such leads as a full-fledged, state-wide inquiry may uncover and let the chips fall where they may.

Parents' Obligation

A group of Fox Cities parents were told recently that they have a serious moral obligation to see that they give their children proper sex instruction.

We heartily agree that parents have the primary and sole responsibility to teach their boys and girls what life is all about, and why.

Teaching sex, whether it's the biological or moral aspect, rests only with those who have the first responsibility of seeing that young people are properly prepared for life.

Many knowledgeable persons claim that if parents shouldered more of the responsibility that is really theirs there would be less juvenile delinquency and less need for public or school sponsored entertainment. We believe they're right.

It is all too easy to turn over to someone else the entire job of bringing up one's children, whether it be formal education or spiritual and moral training.

It also is becoming too easy to let someone else teach our children the facts of life.

No one is more qualified, let alone morally obligated, to give children proper sex instruction than the people who have the greatest stake in their future—their parents. No one should be reluctant to face their children in this important task.

War Substitute Price Limited

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for March 5, 1962.

The allegations of the journals, whose position upon the question of union or disunion is perhaps not fully determined as yet, that the constitution law compels only poor men to enter the army, is ridiculous.

It will be seen, by reading the clause in relation to substitutes, that the fine provided for exemption is not fixed at any particular sum but shall not exceed $300. The drafted man is allowed to procure his own substitute at any price he may agree upon, or, if he prefers, the Government will provide one for him at a price not exceeding $300. Did not the law contain this limitation, the price of substitutes would in all probability range much higher than $300. The rich, being able to pay, would bid high while the poor would be unable to pay the price to which overbidding would raise the substitute market.

Thus, instead of being an oppressive provision, the $300 restriction is actually for the benefit of the poor classes.

Liberals Give Up Idea Of More Progressive Tax System in State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Whatever the outcome of the continuing debate about tax policy in this legislature, the surrender by the liberals of their old demand for extreme progressivity in the income tax scale has had strangely little recognition or perhaps, understanding.

In earlier periods of the state's history when the time came to raise new money and the decision was made to use the personal income tax, the standard device was the levying of a surtax. Younger taxpayers won't remember the fact, but those in middle age or above will remember when the surtax reached the historic level of 60 per cent.

The surtax was a device to extract more money from the taxpayers in the same rate of progressivity that the normal tax rates extracted it. For decades it was a kind of article of faith among liberals. Indeed there were students of economics at the University who used to write letters to this corner based on the assumption that the surtax affected only the very high earners, so firmly entrenched was the word as a synonym for "tax the rich."

AND NOW
It may be supposed that Gov. Nelson two years ago and Gov. Reynolds today are fair representatives of the liberal doxology on most matters.

But Gov. Nelson assisted in the elimination of the last remaining surtax in his compromise tax bill, and moreover, established a pattern of relatively higher increases in the lower and middle brackets of earnings that Gov. Reynolds is virtually certain to adopt and advance as his own policy in his own proposals for yet higher rates in his messages to the legislature this week.

The fact that the income tax boosts of two years ago fell with relatively greater weight in the lower and middle brackets, strangely enough, is yet little known. Doubtless the si-multaneous installation of the wage and salary check with holding plan is largely responsible. Whatever virtues with holding may have—and it is clear that it will be a permanent part of the tax machine—it has the considerable disadvantage of making people less attentive and less knowledgeable about their own tax situation and their own tax contributions.

The one per cent across the board increase, at a casual glance, sounds like an equal application of the increase. But it has the effect of reducing the progressivity of the rate schedule, or as the economists would put it, increasing the regressivity.

The percentage increase on a $3,000 earner two years ago was about 200 per cent, on the $10,000 earner about 10 per cent.

WHY
The fact of withholding makes such reversals of the traditional liberal taxing position more feasible. But there are other and equally pragmatic considerations. The demands of the treasury today are such that there are not enough rich people to finance them.

There is a reluctant acceptance, moreover, even by the most doctrinaire liberal, that in a tide of heavy federal taxation there is somewhere a danger point beyond which the state dare not go in pushing up the tax liability of its most productive, creative and successful citizens.

Curiously, however, these considerations are rarely mentioned in the public discussions. The liberals continue to picture the income tax as the sure tool for avoiding unfair exactions upon the poor, and the sales tax as a monstrosity designed to oppress the little fellow, disregarding the fact that all current sales tax proposals are "progressive" and that all current income tax proposals would make the income tax law less "progressive."

It must be apparent to the naked eye that if there are successive increases in one per cent jumps in the tax liability of lower bracket earners, the income tax for them will very soon be utterly indistinguishable from the sales tax.

Objects of Art Become Known by Nicknames

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

All the furor over the exhibition of the "Mona Lisa" in the United States reminded me of the curious way we have with names. For instance, almost all Americans are convinced (if they think of it at all) that da Vinci's painting is a portrait of a woman who was named Mona Lisa.

Actually, the name he gave the painting — if he bothered to title it at all, which most painters do not — was "La Gioconda," since she was the wife of an Italian burgher of that name. Her first name was Lisa, and "Mona" is merely the familiar form of "Ma Donna."

And Whistler, of course, would never have considered for a moment entitling his famous picture, "Whistler's Mother." He gave it the sedate and formal title, "Arrangement in Gray and Black." Yet no one ever calls it that, and to posterity it remains known as "Whistler's Mother."

Much the same has happened in music. One of the best known of musical compositions is Beethoven's "Moonlight" sonata. But the composer bluntly called the work "Opus 27, No. 2." He openly expressed his deep dislike of giving nicknames to his compositions.

However, when a German critic of the time heard the piece he was reminded of moonlight on Lake Lucerne and dubbed it the "Moonlight" sonata, which displeased Beethoven, but which has stuck.

It seems as if the public needs some kind of verbal "handle" to assist it in grasping or remembering works of art. Most of the popular names of classical compositions were not given to them by the composers, but by others, in much the same way as we dub baseball players with nicknames.

Even so minor a piece of verse as the familiar poem beginning "Twas the night before Christmas" is not known or called by its proper title, which is "A Visit From St. Nicholas." Everyone takes the first line for the title, and nothing will ever restore its proper name.

Indeed, it is the name, and the aura attached to it, that often compels attention more than the object itself. "Mona Lisa" is a magic phrase by now, and will attract millions of viewers who know and care nothing about da Vinci, his sister or the art of painting.

I once heard an amusing, and psychologically sound, story of a Paris antiquarian who displayed in his window five wooden statues, which he had titled "The Five Senses." The first day, a customer came in and bought one of the statues. The next day the antiquarian had calmly relabeled the title card to "The Four Senses." Upon selling another, the remaining group became "The Three Graces." Then they became "Night and Day." When all but one had been sold, he titled the remaining statue "Solitude."

break of Labor Strikes Is Symptom of Economic Jitters

Head Says Disputes Not Solved by Walkouts, Compromise

MAN WALKER
The latest strikes, terrible as they are, are a symptom of a bad case of economic jitters. The jitters are devastating. A recent 34-day East-Strick strike crippled the entire economy and cost $800 million in lost wages. That is the federal government's proud claim to fame. The strikes in New York have cut off whole daily papers for damaged community. A question of publications can be avoided. The firms have re-escaped shutdowns. The lie ahead in a and important issue is up in collective between labor and in this year of labor relations. of several special which will analyze the reasons both wage boosts are come by today.

Fierce new sales competition—made it even more compelling for employers to automate, streamline the production process, and cut costs. Raising prices has become increasingly difficult. A resulting shortage of jobs in a constantly expanding work force leaves workers grimly intent on hanging on to the ones they have. They worriedly seek higher pay and job safeguards against the future. They sullenly complain about the boss' suddenly taut purse string.

Obsolete Manpower
It obviously would be much simpler for an employer to trim obsolete manpower, or "featherbedders," from his payroll if a full employment economy provided jobs elsewhere.

The underlying economic turmoil has created new tensions in labor-management relations. It helps explain why, although the number of strikes hasn't increased significantly, the walkouts that do develop are far more desperate and irreconcilable.

This is not a satisfying explanation for the New York subway rider grumbling over the absence of his favorite daily newspapers. Nor is it a solace to an old friend of this writer who, returning from a long foreign service duty tour for the government, personally had to lug 26 pieces of luggage off an ocean liner during the recent docks strike.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has said, "The public reacts more vehemently to a kick in the shins than to an attack of economic arthritis."

Wirtz acknowledged the citizenry is fed up with the shin-kicking it has been getting lately—and is about ready, should another major labor crisis come along, to support compulsory arbitration, or some other tougher method for dealing with big strikes than is presently authorized.

If labor and management fail to make the collective bargaining system work better, Congress may accommodate a protesting public with drastic new shackles on either side or both.

was no mention of the labor problem in his messages to the new Congress. Instead, he has posed his tax revision bill as an antidote for over-all economic ills.

George Meany, top man in the labor movement as president of the AFL-CIO, concedes the collisions between labor and management over the new problems they are encountering are not susceptible to settlement by strikes "or by the art of compromise as we have known it in the past."

Solutions must come, Meany says, through "close and wholehearted cooperation by labor, management and government on a scale not previously acceptable to any of them."

Some feel that real labor peace comes to disputants only after they have nearly kayoed each other and won mutual respect. This school points to the sudden end of coal strikes after the industry and union had it out a dozen years ago. It takes note, too, of the promising new year-around consultative labor-management system adopted in the steel industry after the record 116-day 1959 steel strike.

Whether labor laws are revised or not, the government is doing some soul-searching on its own role in the labor relations arena. There doesn't seem to be any disposition to reduce the frequency of disputes intervention that hit a dramatic peak when Arthur J. Goldberg, now a Supreme Court justice, served as Kennedy's labor secretary.

Second Thoughts
Some second thoughts are being given, however, on how to make federal intervention work better.

Secretary Wirtz—a busy man riding herd on the troubled labor scene in the five months since he succeeded Goldberg—frankly admits the government has been improvising.

Wirtz recently noted wryly there were some 30-odd public participants, from President Kennedy on down, including city mayors and a federal judge, trying at one time or another to settle the recent dock strike.

Hinting that government intervention moves may not always have been wisely carried out, Wirtz says they were undertaken not only because the public demanded something be done but to "prevent collective bargaining from committing suicide."

The White House and Labor Department generally get into the major labor disputes in an extra-legal sort of way. Without specific sanction of law, and merely stating intervention is "in the public interest," the government suddenly will create a special board or send in a special mediator to recommend a labor dispute compromise. The recommendations have no legal force but they usually have, or at least seek to have, the powerful backing of public opinion.

The emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor-management law have been invoked only 22 times in the 15 years since the law was enacted.

The Taft-Hartley strike emergency procedure and the companion strike delaying procedures of the Railway Labor Act have been useful as a big stick.

Ominous Clouds
As paralyzing as some recent strikes have been, there are even more ominous clouds gathering on the labor relations horizon. New storms could break out in 1963 in a number of industries including telephone, rubber and electrical manufacturing. The steel contracts are reopenable on wages, pensions and insurance benefits.

The year 1964, a presidential campaign year, is also potentially chock full of labor strife. Some of the biggest labor-management contracts will fully run out then, including James R. Hoffa's major Teamsters trucking pacts, Walter Reuther's agreements with the top auto firms, and David J. McDonald's contracts with the big steel companies.

K of C to Hold 'Couples Crusade'
KAUKAUNA — On Sunday, March 17, the Knights of Columbus will sponsor a "Couples Crusade for the Greater Love of God" at Holy Cross Catholic Church.

Following opening services at 2:30 p. m. an assembly is scheduled in the school dining hall where David Kilgas, Knights of Columbus grand knight, will give the welcome. Conferences will follow, conducted by Dr. Joseph Weissler, an Appleton psychiatrist, and the Rev. Benedict Adams, OFM. Cap., from Monte Alverno retreat house, Appleton.

Mass at 6 p. m. will be followed by a banquet at 7 p. m., and closing remarks by Father Benedict, the Rev. Andrew Quella, Holy Cross pastor, and The Rev. Joseph Bauschka, chaplain of the Knights of Columbus.

Friendships Grow as Troop 351 Entertains Chicago Girl Scouts

Members of Troop 351, Sacred Heart School, had one of their wishes fulfilled last weekend when they were visited by three scouts and two leaders of the International Friendship Troop of Chicago. The young Appleton scouts have been corresponding with the Chicago troop for some time, and the chance to meet them was eagerly awaited. Arriving Friday evening for a weekend of scouting activities were Miss Alice Hamilton, troop leader who has been in scouting for 19 years; Miss Marie Leaner, who has been with this troop for two years, in scouting for 11 years, and who represented the United States in 1957 as a member of the International Gatherings Abroad; Miss Sharon Patterson, Miss Dianne Hervey and Miss Phyllis Reed, all juniors in high school. The friendship between troops began through Troop 351 leader, Mrs. Don Long, who was formerly associated with Friendship House in Chicago. She and Miss Hamilton have long been friends, and at one time Mrs. Long helped that troop get its square dancing badge. Friendship House is part of the National Catholic Interracial movement, now in its 24th year.

Evening at Camp
The visitors and their hosts spent Friday night at Camp Winnecomac at Kaukauna. They spent the evening popping corn, singing songs and getting acquainted. Then they tucked themselves into sleeping bags. In the morning they made breakfast, practiced their rope tying, romped in the snow and made firm the friendship established the evening before.

Sunday morning Miss Leaner, a senior at Loyola University, was guest speaker at a high school Communion Breakfast at Sacred Heart Church. In the afternoon she and her fellow Chicagoans were entertained at a tea held by members of the Senior Planning Board at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gresham, 1600 N. Outagamie St. Representatives of senior troops visited with the scouts at the event, before they departed for their homes, having made the word 'Friendship' a thing of reality.

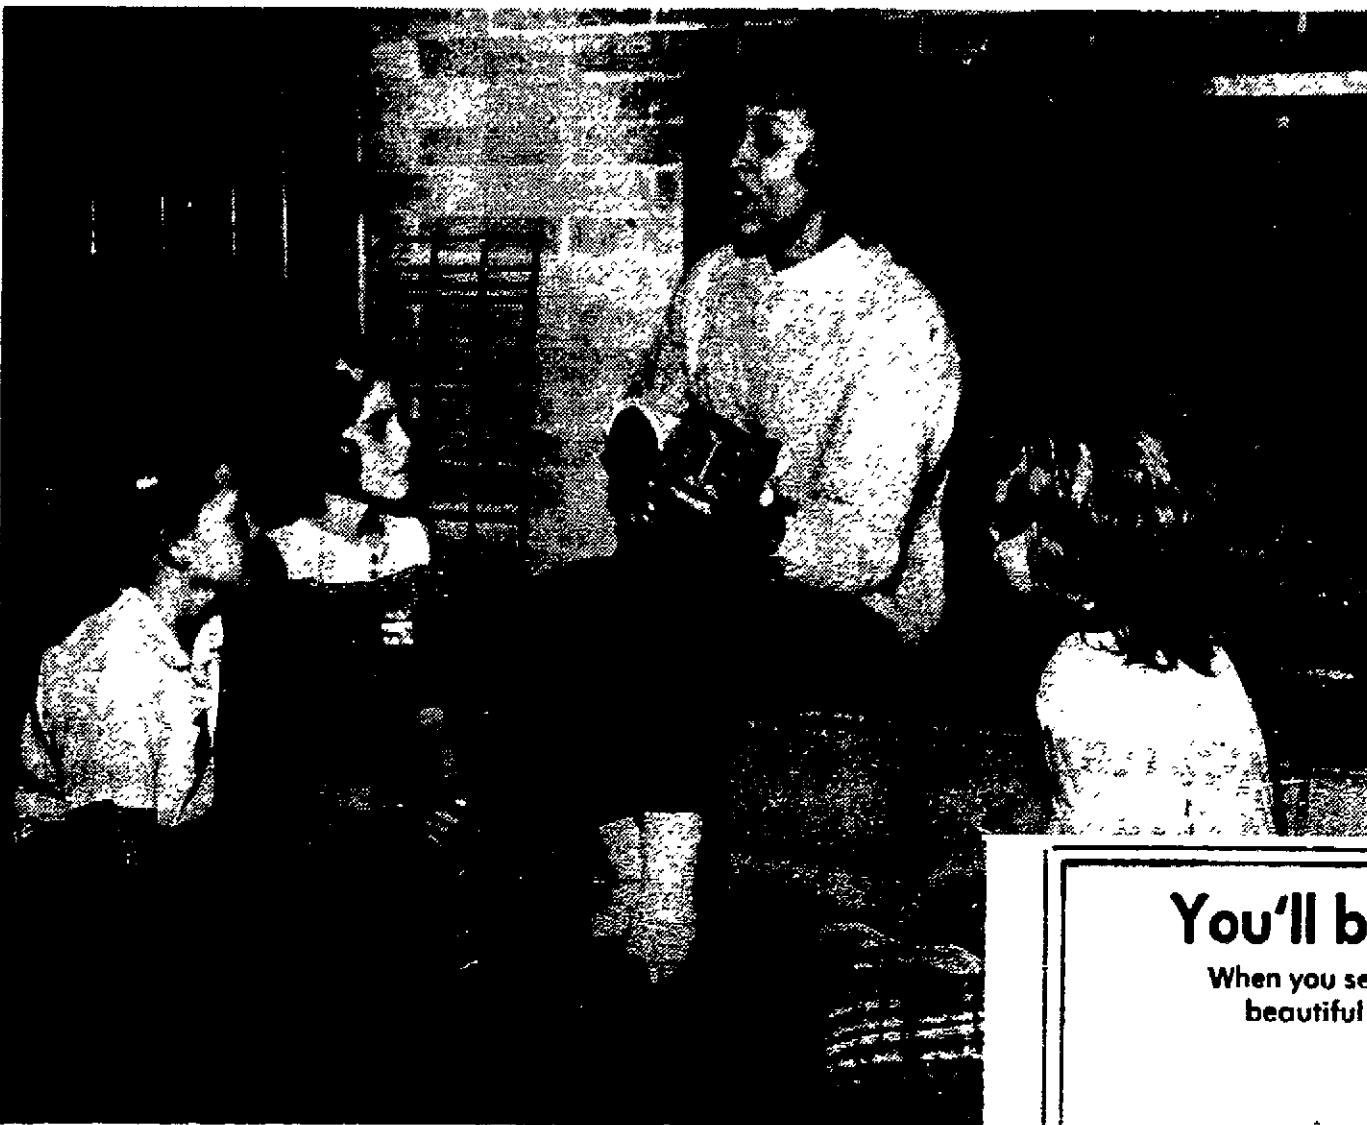

It's Never Too Cold for Girl Scouts to enjoy a campfire, and the one above set the mood for visiting and friendship Saturday at Camp Winnecomac, Kaukauna. Standing is troop assistant Mrs. Frank Escamilla. Around the fire are Mary Oberweiser, Nancy Bonner, Kay Griesbach, Kathy Heule, Susan Sturm and Phyllis Reed, Chicago. Below, Miss Alice Hamilton, center, gives compass instruction to Terry Long and Nancy Escamilla.

When Made to the Accompaniment of a crackling campfire, popcorn is a special treat. Above, making the snack, are Connie Peterson, Patti Ruppel, Charlene Cumber and Dianne Hervey, Chicago. Below, at the Senior Planning Board tea, held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gresham, are Miss Louise Noffke, Troop 176; Miss Alice Hamilton, leader of the Chicago troop, and Miss Barbara Lowell, Appleton Troop 26

Miss Sharon Patterson, Chicago, gave rope tying tips to Christine Skauda and Shellie Van de Hey Saturday at Camp Winnecomac. Below, a camping experience just couldn't happen without music. Miss Marie Leaner, Chicago, drew the rapt attention of Rosemary Pfefferle, Mary Moder and Betty Polakowski. Mrs. Raymond Van de Hey is co-leader of Troop 351. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Even the most contented babies are sometimes beset by end-of-the-day crankiness. These out-of-sorts spells are often as much the result of boredom as of fatigue. A mother I know cures these cross-patch spells by providing a special social hour for her baby. There may be a game of peek-a-boo, a bit of knee dandling, a merry song or two. Another time there'll be a mother-baby gab-fest (any words or coos will do) or a 3-way romp with dad. Amazing how these family circle domps chase baby blues.

More cheer-up strategy. Babies brighten up when supper features a succulent Gerber Strained Meat, like Chicken, Beef or Ham. (Just 3 of 9 delightful varieties.) That's because the savory true-meat flavors have special baby-appeal. Made from selected Armour cuts, these quality meats are specially processed to remove most of the fat. For baby's nutritional build-up, Gerber Meats are high in protein... the big contributor to growth and muscle development.

P.S. Gerber Meats are famous for an exceptionally smooth, moist texture.

Note from the Gerber nutritionist: "Serving your baby many kinds of vegetables and fruits helps build good food habits for future years. They provide a wide variety of taste experiences when food acceptances are most easily established."

Mama from Don Gerber. "One of the continuing projects in our Agricultural Research program is exhaustive experimentation with vegetable varieties to find those with the highest nutritive values... the best flavor and color. Take Gerber Sweet Potatoes. A seven-year experiment with several sweet potato varieties resulted in the development of two special Gerber varieties which have considerably more vitamin-A value and appreciably more vitamin C than ordinary sweet potatoes. Also superior color and flavor." Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Analyze Danger to Play Safe

BY ALFRED SHELWOLD
If there's a wild animal in your street, you play safe by locking yourself in. If the beast gets into your house, you must unlock the doors and get out. It seems simple, but many bridge players try to play safe without first looking for the best.

The defenders rattled off the first three spade tricks and then switched to diamonds. South won and needed the rest of the tricks for his contract.
South had heard somewhere that the safe way to finesse for a queen is to win the first trick with the ace or king and take your finesse on the second round of the suit. This is supposed to protect you if one of the opponents has the singleton queen.
Acting on this false theory, South began the trumps by leading the ace. He did catch a singleton queen, but this didn't make him happy. East was sure to take the setting trick with the ten of hearts.

Poor Explanation
"My play would have been right," South explained, "if the singleton queen had been in the other hand."
It sounded good, but it wasn't true. If South caught a singleton queen with his ace, he was going to lose a trump trick to the other opponent whether that opponent was East or West.
Since South needs all of the trumps he should begin the suit by leading toward dummy, intending to finesse with dummy's jack if West follows with a low trump. When West actually produces the queen, dummy wins with the king and continues with the jack. South can then finesse through East's ten.
The singleton queen is about the only danger you can guard against (as long as the opponents hold their cards close to the vest). Leading the ace of trumps surrenders to the danger; leading a low trump gives you a chance. Don't confuse the situation with A-K-J-10-x opposite x-x-x, where you do cash the ace first and then get to dummy to lead the suit for a finesse.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S A Q 8 7 H 10 7 6 3 D 7 6 3 C 9 4. What do you say?
Answer: Bid two hearts. Since your hand is worth only one response you raise partner's major suit rather than bid your own suit.

Desi Arnaz Claims Bride In Nevada Rite

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Desi Arnaz married Edith Hirsch on his 46th birthday with flowers and congratulations from his ex-wife, Lucille Ball.
Miss Ball, who divorced Arnaz in 1960 after 19 years of marriage, sent the couple roses in shape of a horseshoe with a card reading: "congratulations on both of you picking a winner."
The ceremony, held Saturday at the Sands Hotel, was witnessed by friends, including entertainers Jimmy Durante and Van Johnson.
It was the second marriage for both Arnaz and his bride. Mrs. Hirsch, 45, was divorced in Juarez, Mexico, recently from Clement Hirsch, millionaire sportsman and racing stable owner.

Correction
Mr. and Mrs. Alf Hultman, parents of Jack Duane Hultman, whose engagement to Miss Karen Staffeld has been announced, reside at Ashland, not Oshkosh, as stated in Sunday's Post-Crescent. Miss Staffeld is the daughter of Mrs. Kenneth Staffeld, 973 Higgins Ave., Neenah, and the late Mr. Staffeld.

Today's Etiquette

QUESTIONS PROPRIETY
Dear Louise: I have been going with a young man for almost a year (let's call him Bill). He has an acquaintance who asked him to be toastmaster at her wedding. I know the bride-elect by sight but we have never met. When Bill received the invitation to the wedding and reception, the inner envelope contained the lines: Bill and Friend. In my opinion, this is improper. I feel that if I am to be a guest, I should get a separate invitation. Am I right? In spite of the "and Friend," would it be poor taste if I do attend the wedding? Should I send a gift?
Louise Davis Answers:
Correctly, the bride-elect or her mother should have inquired of Bill for your name and address so that a separate invitation could have been sent to you. However, it is my guess that it was intentional so that you wouldn't feel obligated to buy a gift.
As Bill's friend, you have been invited by "remote control" and it would be all right for you to attend if you wish. Because the bride and her family are complete strangers to you, I advise against getting a gift. I think that you would embarrass them if you do. They are undoubtedly being thoughtful of Bill, knowing that he would enjoy himself all the more if you are present. The invitation to you as "and friend" was meant to be cordial, I'm sure.
